AMERICAN CONSUL NARROWLY ESCAPES

Bomb Wrecks Room in Hotel Five Minutes After He Leaves. Rebel Leaders Are Killed.

London, February 9.—(P)—Two hundred persons were killed in the fighting at Oporto, says a Daily Mail dispatch from Vigo, quoting a newly arrived traveler from the center of the Portuguese revolt.

A bomb fell into the room in the Grand hotel occupied by the American consul who had left the room only five minutes previous. The room was wrecked.

Leaders Are Slain.

Those killed during the course of the revolt included Lopez Teixeira, director of Diario do Oporto; Alvaro Castro, republican leader; General Norton de Matos, former war minister; General Jaime de Morais and General Sousa Diaz.

Many of the most important buildings in Oporto, among them the public library and postoffice, were destroyed.

The Mail's correspondent at Barca d'Alva, on the frontier, says: "Unlike so many Portuguese revolutions, the present one seems fierce and determined. The people at the head of it appear to have plenty of money and arms, and even airplanes, which they are using skillfully to maintain communications and bomb government barracks, and they are doing much damage."

"The rebel leaders, Dr. Alfonso Da Costa, former Portuguese delegate to the League of Nations and once president of that body, and General Jaime

3 NEW YORK PLAYS RAIDED BY POLICE

Warrants Are Served on Managers and Players in "Sex," "The Captive" and "The Virgin Man."

New York, Thursday, February 10.—(United News.)—Broadway's stage elite came trooping into night court early this morning to answer to warrants based on a section of the penal code framed to control disreputable houses.

In moving against three sex dramas—"The Captive," "Sex" and "The Virgin Man," the authorities arrested two score men and women, accusing in everybody appearing and directing financing of the three plays.

The bluecoats who acted for acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee and District Attorney Hanton staged a bigger production than any they are determined to stop. Word of the "raids" spread swiftly up and down the white way and crowds of amusement-seekers abandoned other plans for the evening to witness arraignment of the noted and obscure stage people.

After wiping the grease paint from their faces, the "prisoners" arrived by taxi and limousine to find the street in front of night court crowded, the corridors crowded, and standing room only in the courtroom itself.

To a continuous booming of photographers' flashlights, Mae West, star of "Sex," alighted from a taxi muffled in a brown fur coat, and pushed her way toward the courtroom. Twenty

Great Expectations Are Not Always Realizations

He—"A fortune teller told me I had a lot of money coming to me."

She—"Well, I'll wait until a paying teller can say the same."

And there's nothing mercenary about that. A girl who marries a man who is putting his faith in what a fortune teller says, is tying up to a poor provider.

She naturally expects to run the home and do the buying, but the bills can not be paid with promises. And as nice as the merchants of Atlanta are none of them accept fortune teller's predictions as legal tender.

The merchants advertise extensively in The Constitution and offer wonderful bargains in those advertisements. That they are appreciated by the purchasing agents of the home is evidenced by the fact that The Constitution goes into more homes in Atlanta and suburbs every day than any other Atlanta newspaper.

ADVERTISING IN THE CONSTITUTION PAYS THE ADVERTISER AND SAVES THE BUYER.

LONGWORTH HITS COOLIDGE POLICY ON AMERICAN NAVY

"Our Influence Among Nations Must Come From Strength, Not Weakness," He Declares

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, February 9.—Addressing the woman's patriotic conference on national defense tonight, Speaker Longworth, of the house of representatives, pointedly took the Coolidge administration to task for allowing the cruiser and other auxiliary classes of ships of the American navy to fall below the 5-5-3 ratio fixed by the Washington conference on capital ships.

The remarks of the speaker attracted unusual attention because of the fact that he is frequently mentioned as a potential candidate for the republican nomination for next year as a possible rival of Mr. Coolidge.

Predicts Bill's Passage.

Mr. Longworth predicted that the use will accept the senate amendment to the navy appropriation bill providing for the immediate construction of construction of the three cruisers which the president desires abandoned.

"The leading argument of those in the house who opposed any appropriation for the cruisers was that another limitation of armament conference might be held in the comparatively near future, and that under the circumstances we should proceed with no new capital building program," said Mr. Longworth. "To my mind that argument refutes itself. I have not the slightest doubt that it was our commanding strength and generous willingness to make great sacrifices that brought about the successful results of the Washington conference."

"Today we are in no such position of superiority but rather in a position of inferiority. We must then take up the question of a new conference on the question of limitation of armament, not as a nation willing to make great sacrifices in the cause of peace, but as a nation begging others to make sacrifices themselves. In days like these, when it is regrettable, though undoubtedly true, that we have incurred the envy, if not the hatred and enmity of many of the great nations, we cannot expect much of that sort of consideration in their councils as might be due to a liking for us or gratitude for service or sacrifices we have offered in the past."

"Our influence among the nations of the world, not only for our own interests but for the interest of enduring peace must come from strength, not from weakness, from industrial and financial strength backed up by a competent military power, for the first two without the latter would be of no avail."

Adequate Navy Necessary.

"That we may be secure at home and that our influence may be felt abroad, we must have an adequate navy, and by adequate I mean a navy which shall measure up to the ratio agreed upon at the Washington conference. I hold that the American people believe, and had the right to believe, that we intended to live up to that agreement. Surely no foreign nation can complain if we abide by the terms of our contract. We have been more than just to the nations of the world. Let us be just to ourselves."

Mr. Longworth said that his army and navy are costing one-fifth of our total government expenditures, "an amount relatively small as compared with the military establishments of other nations."

He said that he considers our army adequate, but our navy inadequate. The budget bureau has pared down navy appropriations, but the speaker said that congress is charged with the responsibility of maintaining adequate national defense and ought not to become the rubber stamp of the budget.

FARM RELIEF VOTE IS SET FOR FRIDAY

M'Nary-Haugen Measure Is Given Right of Way in Senate—House Debate Is Limited.

Washington, February 9.—(P)—The McNary-Haugen equalization fee bill, around which the congressional fight over farm relief has centered, was given right of way today in the 12 hours, was adopted without a house with a vote expected next week.

The senate, which has been considering the measure for several days, has agreed to vote on it Friday.

In the house, a resolution providing for immediate consideration of the bill, with general debate limited to record vote after three hours discussion. Previously on a roll call the house had rejected, 216 to 146, a motion designed to put the Curtis-Crisp proposal, which a number of senators and representatives are supporting, on an equal legislative footing.

In the senate, as consideration of farm legislation continued, Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, served notice that he would do his utmost to prevent final congressional action on the McFadden Branch banking bill until after the McNary-Haugen measure is signed by President Coolidge.

There were indications that he would have the support of a number of senators on both sides of the chamber who declined to enter into the combination between supporters of the farm and banking measures to bring about the application of the rule limiting debate on both bills unless agreements fixing definite dates for votes could be had.

Coupling with his proposal a warning that he would renew his demand for an investigation of the forces operating to the disadvantage of agriculture, Senator Wheeler charged that the chief obstacle to success for the McNary-Haugen bill was the unfriendly attitude of the executive branch of the government, and he named specifically Secretaries Mellon, Jardine and Hoover.

In both the house and senate the agricultural situation was portrayed as one of the most serious problems ever to face the country, and the McNary-Haugen bill was attacked and defended along lines which have followed in farm relief debate for nearly three years.

Mercury Falls As Cold Wave Nears Section

Freezing Temperatures Expected for City Friday Morning.

Cloudy skies, light rains and a gradually lowering temperature today threaten to bring to a temporary end the balmy stretch of February weather Georgia has known for 38 years, according to C. F. von Herrmann, government meteorologist.

Scheduled for Atlanta and vicinity today is a 7-degree drop in temperature from Wednesday's high record of 55, by noon, followed by a further drop of three degrees during the night, together with light rains. High and low temperatures for Wednesday were 55 and 31.

Although a severe cold wave is spreading southward and eastward from the northwest, present indications are that the lowest drop of temperature, expected Friday night will not go below freezing, Mr. von Herrmann said.

During the first nine days of February, Mr. von Herrmann's records show that the average mean daily temperature was 55, just 11 degrees above the normal figure for this time of year. There is only one such February warm spell on record at the local bureau, which occurred in 1889 when the thermometer was slightly higher than the average for this February thus far.

A event the mercury drops to the freezing mark considerable damage may be done peach trees and other fruit trees over the middle and south sections of the state. Flowers, bulbs and shrubbery also may suffer in such a cold wave.

TEACHERS GET JANUARY PAY CHECKS TODAY

Though Committee Has Not Approved Budget, Attorney Rules Further Delay Illegal.

$221,000 IS TOTAL OF SALARIES DUE

Objection To Payment of Salaries Already Due Not Anticipated—Committee Meets Monday.

Despite the fact that the revised budget of the Atlanta board of education still awaits approval of the citizens' advisory committee, named to supervise expenditures of the board of education for this year, 1,300 employees of the Atlanta school system will receive their pay checks for January today, it was announced Wednesday night.

Payment is being made by City Comptroller B. Graham West in accordance with a ruling by City Attorney James L. Mayson, who held that the board is the constituted authority, and since it has ordered the teachers paid, there is no cause for delay. In fact any further delay would be illegal.

Committee Meets Monday.

The board at its regular February meeting Tuesday adopted what is termed a revised budget and slashed $343,520.20 from the "B" budget of the board, which was passed tentatively several weeks ago. The "B" budget exceeded anticipated revenue for schools for the year by the amount which was cut out, and the slashes brought the revised budget and contemplated receipts to $2,793,000.

No meeting of the advisory committee will be held before Monday, when Harold Hirsch, chairman, returns to the city, H. Warner Martin, vice chairman, announced Wednesday. He declined, as other members of that body did, to express any opinion as to whether the revised budget would be accepted, and stated that any action or statement would be made at the session called to consider the revised sheet Monday.

Mr. Mayson's ruling was to the effect that all legal barriers to payment of the January salaries, which amounted to a little more than $221,000, of which teachers' checks hit a total of $211,000, had been removed and that since the advisory committee has no legal standing before members of the board of education have no authority to delegate authority nor responsibility imposed on them, it would be illegal to further delay payment.

Members Silent.

The revised budget was made up by shortening the school year one month and deducting salaries of employees for the time school is suspended, leaving six negro night schools from the total of eight; consolidation of smaller classes of the school system and placing a minimum of 25 in every class; establishment of double sessions in kindergarten where more than one teacher is required.

Members of the advisory committee Wednesday were approached as to the

YOUTHFUL WIFE OF RANCHER FREED OF BLAME

Nebraskan, 45, To End Life

Alliance, Neb., February 9.—(P)—Debts contracted by his youthful bride during a correspondence romance, led to the suicide of J. Garfield Ball, 45-year-old rancher and widower, who last Friday married Miss Lottie Jones, of Marion, Ind., in the opinion of a coroner's jury.

Ball, the father of five children, four of whom are grown, was found shot to death on a bed at his ranch home, northwest of here, Tuesday morning.

The 20-year-old bride was absolved of any blame for her husband's act by the jury at an inquest last night. She testified that the first she knew of the shooting was when she heard the shot while preparing breakfast. She said she found him lying on the bed with a rifle nearby.

Neighbors testified that Ball was worried financially over many large debts said to have been incurred by the bride previous to her marriage. He was preparing to sell considerable property to meet these debts, the neighbors said.

C. E. Ball said today that his brother obtained the girl's address from a friend. After a lengthy correspondence, she came out to Hemingford, Neb., and visited Miss Nora Sailing, a niece of Ball's. Miss Sailing and other friends say they argued against the proposed marriage, explaining that she would tire of lonely ranch life, and Miss Jones returned to Marion. Last week, however, she returned and they were married.

Mrs. Ball says she is sick and tired of ranch life and will return immediately to Marion. Ball's first wife died several years ago.

MAN IS CHARGED WITH STARVING WIFE TO DEATH

Waycross, Ga., February 9.—(P)—Oscar Hodge went on trial today in Ware county superior court here charged with the murder of his wife through criminal negligence.

He is alleged to have starved Mrs. Hodge to death.

The case recently was laid before the Ware county grand jury by local charity workers who visited Mrs. Hodge during her illness and reported to county authorities the existence of alleged deplorable conditions at their home. Hodge was indicted on the death of his wife.

Selection of a jury was completed late today and the taking of testimony began, with expectations by court officials that the trial would be brief.

COOLIDGE QUIET, STUDIOUS AS BOY, TEACHER DECLARES

Perth Amboy, N. J., February 9.—Calvin Coolidge was quiet and studious as a boy, and seldom took part in athletics or the games of his school mates, Ernest C. Carpenter, who taught the president in the school at Plymouth Notch, Vermont, told members of the Rotary club today.

"He never played baseball and I never heard of his going in the 'old swimming hole' with the other kids," Carpenter said.

Despite his lack of interest in physical activities, "Cal" was popular with the other boys and they often asked him to assist them in their homework, Carpenter added.

As a boy the president gave no indication of the great future in store for him, according to his former teacher.

FLOGGING GIVEN TO GEORGIA MAN BY HOODED BAND

Montgomery County Man Says He Was Taken From Auto and Severely Beaten. Reward Offered

Mt. Vernon, Ga., February 9.—(P)—Montgomery county officers tonight announced that a band of hooded men, last Saturday night took F. B. Gordon, of Charlotte, Ga., from his automobile and carried him off and administered a severe flogging to him.

According to Gordon's statement to the officers, he and Ernest Adams, also of Charlotte, were returning home from a trip to Vidalia, Saturday night when the automobile which Gordon was driving was surrounded by the masked band just as they crossed the Oconee creek bridge. Gordon was ordered to get out of his automobile, it was stated, and the floggers forcibly carried him four miles from where the automobile was halted, where he was severely whipped. This occurred about 10 o'clock.

Gordon stated that the floggers told him that he was showing too much interest in a court case now under way in the Montgomery county court in which a relative of the man is concerned and unless his activity ceased further whippings would follow. They then turned him loose and told him to leave the vicinity and not to look back as he left the scene where he was flogged, or else he would suffer serious consequences.

When the floggers took Gordon from his automobile, Adams, his companion was told to drive on and for the car was followed by the masked band and a reward has been offered by the county commissioners for the arrest of the members of the mob. A resolution was adopted by the county commissioners and signed by M. B. Calhoun, J. T. Walker and M. L. Adams.

The scene of the flogging is near the scene of the Toombs county deprecations last year in which a number of persons were severely whipped, Willie Collins being killed.

The Toombs county grand jury met February 21, to consider flogging cases in that county.

TOTAL FOR SCOUT CAMPAIGN $32,090

Over Half Desired Quota for Boy Scout Camp Yet To Be Subscribed—Four Days of Drive Remain.

Subscriptions of $500 each from the Atlanta Junior league and Alvin B. Cates, realtor partner of the late Albert S. Adams, boosted Wednesday's total to $7,807 in the campaign for $75,000 to complete the Bert Adams Boy Scout camp 12 miles north of Atlanta.

The day's report made $32,090 the amount raised in the campaign up to the half-way mark, reached Wednesday night. Four working days are left to complete the fund before Monday, February 14, the date set for the campaign to close.

The sum in hand has been secured from 579 different friends of the scout movement and of Mr. Adams, by an average of 95 workers who have been in the field since Friday night under leadership of W. C. Wardlaw, campaign chairman, and W. Eugene Harrington, president of the Atlanta Scout council.

Still Need $42,410.

An additional $42,410 is to be secured in the next four days from nearly 4,000 persons, listed as prospective givers before the campaign opened, who have not yet been called upon by the organization of volunteer workers, which is said to be the smallest in number which has carried on a campaign for so large a sum in Atlanta in many years.

"The response from those who have been seen by our limited number of workers during the first four days of the campaign is first cordial and generous without exception," Mr. Wardlaw said Wednesday night in reviewing the progress of the first half of the campaign.

"The purpose of providing a place within hiking distance of Atlanta to build strong, healthy, useful citizens for Atlanta and the other purpose of recognizing in a tangible and appropriate way the city's respect for one of its greatest citizens, both seem to strike a sympathetic chord in the hearts of the people of Atlanta," he declared.

"The Boy Scout movement has firmly gripped the affections of everyone who has come in contact with it during the 17 years since it was launched in Atlanta. It has the support of everyone who has seen the splendid type of young manhood graduated

"Exhibits" at Police Court

PRISONERS AND "PROPS" MAKE JUSTICE COLORFUL :: Include Butter and Beds

BY HERB MCUSKER.

"Nora Jackson, colored." From the door opening on the colored prisoners' compartment in police court emerged a waddling, submissive negress. She was chewing gum.

Judge A. W. Callaway glanced over the railing. "Nora, you're charged with being drunk and disorderly—guilty or not guilty?"

"Guilty, yuh honah, suh—I'se not guilty."

The clerk rustled some papers. Judge Callaway rubbed an ear. A huge policeman, wearing a bored expression, rose from his seat and lumbered up to the prisoner's side. Two swarthy male spectators, seated nearby, resumed an interrupted conversation in muffled, broken English. Court was opened. The ends of justice were being met in Atlanta.

"Fraps" Varied. Despite the fact that it was a "light docket" Wednesday produced a veritable kaleidoscope of human foibles in police court. But singular as were the actors in the burlesque of society, the "props" introduced on the scene were far more interesting.

A pound of putrid butter, compact despite the heat of the room; a sick chicken, a container filled with "canned heat," a pair of misplaced shoes, a battered automobile tag, several much-thumbed grocery receipts, a sheet of yellow paper bearing pencil-written minutes of a baseball meeting, a lacerated skull and a broken bed—these, and more, comprised the weights that tipped the scales during the afternoon.

Nora Jackson drew $15 and costs for raising her voice in blasphemy and retired in favor of "M. Gordon," white, aged, confused. Gordon it was who violated the health ordinance by selling impure butter.

"Sniff Tips" Scale. The complainant, a buxom individual, radiated hostility. He laid the evidence before the court and swept his gaze over the bystanders for sympathy. A lawyer, doubling in brass as interpreter, sounded the defendant's denial. The purchaser of the butter had selected it himself. How could he, honest shopkeeper help it if his customer didn't have sense enough to place the butter on ice?

Judge Callaway sniffed the evidence. "Ten and costs," he said. The clerk started writing in his record. The bailiff rose.

"Charlie Cook, colored." Denies "Non-Support." Charlie ambled up to the bar and directed the gaze of his one good eye at the court. A sorry-looking negress, with lobe in arms, stood by his side. Charlie had "whacked" his spouse Sunday night because she had "called the law on him" for non-support.

Charlie extended a grimy hand upward and swore by all that was holy that "I weren't" so. He drew a term in the stockade.

Arthur Kutz, white, next stepped up to account for having driven his motorcycle 45 miles an hour within the city limits. The defendant claimed he was a traffic officer in Sebring, Fla., and that he had forgotten that the speed laws in that state were more lenient than those of Georgia. He paid $5 and continued on his way to Sebring.

The misplaced feet entered the courtroom as Eugene Evans, colored was charged with having started a fight in a theater on Decatur street.

Eugene testified vehemently that a woman had stepped on his toes while entering the box he occupied and had "cussed" him roundly when he protested. In lieu of $15 and costs, Eugene rejoined his fellow prisoners.

Sick Chicken Case. Tedium was alleviated momentarily as Willie Brown, colored, flidgetted before the bar and attempted to supply a reasonable answer to the charge against him—involving his attempted sale of a sick chicken, and subsequent actions when accosted by "the law."

"Judge, some nigger give'd me this yere chicken an' Ah was jes' goin' to nuss it back to health," Willie pleaded.

Then why did you attempt to wring the chicken's neck when you saw the officers? the court asked.

"Ah didn't wring his neck—Ah just twisted it a little."

"Ah didn't wring his neck—Ah just twisted it a little."

Male spectators straightened recalcitrant neckties and craned necks as Mrs. Helen Benton, attractive young white woman, walked to the witness stand. Mrs. Benton was charged with having attacked and cut Mrs. E. P. Pearson, of 72 West Baker street, Monday night.

"I did it, your honor," she said, "but I did it in self-defense." On motion of the defense counsel, trial was continued to February 19.

"Wasn't So Bad." Shadows began to creep across the dusty floors as minor offenders appeared and departed in rapid succession. Clara Wright, mulatto, admitted she had imbibed too freely of canned heat; a white man named Queen acknowledged he had "be-haved himself" when he kicked five "frungs" out of his bed in a local hotel; George Callahan barred two rows of ivory teeth in an uncontrollable smile, and confessed he wasn't half as bad as he thought he was when he had resisted two officers. And then the gavel fell and court was adjourned.

Judge Callaway stood up, stifled a yawn and turned to the clerk. "Pretty light docket," he observed. Then he slumped down from the bench and departed.

The ends of justice were met in Atlanta. And the same performance will be given this afternoon at the same place—with an entirely new cast of actors.

Selection of a jury to try four defendants in the Bankers' Trust company mail fraud case is scheduled today in United States district court. If events move according to program the trial will open Monday, it was stated.

That a plea for separate trials will be made today in district court was not considered likely by the district attorney's office, as it was agreed between counsel that any pleas or motions were to have been made on last Monday when the case first came up, it was said.

The four defendants slated to go on trial Monday are John B. Russell, P. J. Baker, L. R. Adams and J. A. Sasser. The case of W. D. Manley, president of the defunct bank chain, has been postponed by Judge Sibley by virtue of a physician's report to the effect that Manley is critically ill and would have to appear in court on a cot if he attended.

The case will be adjourned until Monday because Friday is the day set for naturalization proceedings in district court.

Mexican Student Avoids Fighting, Comes To Tech

Miguel A. Delgado, student in electrical engineering at Mexico City for the past two years, arrived here Wednesday to enter Georgia Tech.

Constant fighting and arguing among students in Mexico universities over religious subjects caused the young man to come here to complete his education, he said.

Senior Delgado reported at the office of H. H. Caldwell, registrar of Georgia Tech, late Wednesday afternoon. He called for Dr. M. L. Brittain, the president, who had been advised of his coming several days ago by telegram from the boy's father.

While it was too late to make any definite arrangements Wednesday, the Mexican student is expected to call at the school this morning to discuss his matriculation. Mr. Caldwell stated, Senior Delgado showed evidence of having some difficulty with the English language, which means it will probably take him several months to get acclimated, the registrar remarked.

Senior Delgado intends to enter Georgia Tech this term, and though he will be the only Mexican student there are a number of Spanish-speaking students, mostly from Cuba.

Letters from mayors in several southern states Wednesday were received at Mayor I. N. Ragsdale's office, telling of the intention of executives to attend the annual meeting of the Southern Gas association, which will convene in Atlanta April 20, for a two-day session.

Mr. Ragsdale stated that cities as far north as Fredericksburg, Va., and as far west as New Orleans are represented in communications.

Stressing the fact that he is on a vacation which will be spent largely Turning a page in its history the southeastern part of the United States finds itself facing a brilliant outlook of industrial activity, George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, declared here Wednesday upon arrival for a brief visit in company with Edwin Lefevre, financial authority of the periodical, and Garret Garrett, noted economist. Mr. Lorimer and his party spent Wednesday at the Biltmore.

"Not least among the projects which promise to accelerate the advent of prosperity in this part of the country is the commendable cooperation of farming factions in discarding the cotton growing 'habit,'" Mr. Lorimer said. "With such cooperation as is prevalent here the perilous cotton surplus and resultant low prices will be rapidly remedied."

Touching lightly upon things literary in the south, the famous journalist lauded southern writers as being among the foremost along their particular lines in the country.

"One need only point to Mrs. Corra Harris to substantiate that statement," he said. "The south is well represented among the literati of America."

McNary, Real Dirt Farmer, Leader of Agriculture Bloc And Symbol of Relief Hopes

Surplus Control Bill Fattered by Oregon Senator Seen as Solution of Problems.

BY ALFRED P. RECK.
Washington, February 9.—There are two kinds of farmers in the United States—political and dirt. Senator Charles L. McNary, Oregon, republican, leader of the farm bloc and co-author of the farm relief bill, comes under the latter classification. "I never had to develop interest in farming problems," he was born in me. McNary told the United States today in a frank discussion of himself and the aims of his agriculture surplus control bill which is to be voted upon Friday.

"Legislative machinery to aid solution of the greatest agriculture problem—crop surplus—is what we are seeking," he explained, "not a whole government solution, for the farmers must cooperate and help."

Under his leadership, the senate farm bloc has developed into one of the most powerful bodies. "If we can't beat them we will let them join us," the bloc remarked a few days ago when it formed a coalition with the bankers and forced the senate to its knees for the consideration of agriculture and banking legislation.

Symbol of Farm Relief.
Through this legislative strategy the Oregon senator stepped firmly into the national spotlight.

McNary as a name means relief from financial depression for hundreds of thousands of farmers. Of McNary as an individual they know nothing or but very little.

McNary is the symbol of farm relief, but he is not a fanatic. He is a clear-thinking, fighting, business man, legislator, lawyer and farmer.

Small and wiry, he presents the trim, youthful appearance of a trained athlete, which belies his 52 years and one decade in the United States senate.

His forehead is broad, topped by light, almost reddish hair. His blue eyes, when he talks, his thoughts run ahead of his words, and he talks fast to catch up with them.

Little But Forceful.
In action on the floor of the senate McNary resembles a bantamweight boxer. He is alert, quick with his tongue and quick on his feet. Summed up as a whole, he is 135 pounds of bubbling energy. From the galleries he looks under 55.

Farm relief is something he did not create, according to his own confession, but which he adopted and used in a sincere effort to aid agriculturists of the country.

"A resolution embodying the features of surplus control was brought to me in the fall of 1921," Senator McNary revealed. "It had been drafted by the United Wheat Growers' association."

"I worked on it for two months. It was drafted and redrafted until I offered to the senate in January, 1922, a bill for the control of agriculture surplus. That was the original bill of which the present measure is a refinement and an outgrowth."

Family of Farmers.
Senator McNary when he talks agriculture is familiar with his subject, for he has an intimate knowledge of farm conditions. He, his father and his grandfather were farmers. Even today, when the heavy doors of the senate creak shut for the close of a session, he drops the role of senator and hurries westward to Salem, Ore., where he forgets legislative worries among the fruit trees of his 200-acre farm.

He is interested in the development of trees adaptable to the west. Recently he has succeeded in perfecting a new sweet prune, which he believes can be grown successfully on the Pacific coast.

Surplus control is not new to Senator McNary, for he organized the largest farm cooperative association in the United States, the Salem Fruit Growers' union. For years he has studied cooperatives on the west coast and is familiar with their possibilities and their extent.

"If the farmers' cooperative associations had 100 per cent membership they could solve their own problems," McNary declared, "but with only one sixth of the marketing done by this method farmers must work behind legislative machinery until they get their feet on the ground again."

Oregon Pioneer.
Senator McNary, the grandson of one of the Oregon pioneers, was born on a farm near Salem, June 12, 1874. After graduating from Salem public schools he worked his way through Stanford university, received his law degree from Willamette university and for five years was dean of the Willamette college of law. He was an associate justice of the Oregon supreme court, and in 1910 was appointed by the governor to fill an unexpired term in the United States senate. In 1919 he was elected to the senate and has served in that body since that time.

His championship of agriculture interests has brought him into national prominence, and even now talk is current around the capitol connecting McNary with the nomination for vice president. If the senator has ambitions in this direction, however, he is keeping them to himself.

SILGH RELEASED ON $5,000 BOND

Ocala, Ga., February 9.—(Special.) H. K. Silgh, charged with arson following the burning of his home in which were found the charred bones of what was thought to be a human being, and subsequently arrested in Los Angeles after insurance companies investigated his supposed death, was released on $5,000 bond today.

Silgh disappeared after the fire and the bones found in the house were buried with funeral ceremony. He carried $40,000 in life insurance with double indemnity in case of accidental death. Attempts to collect the insurance led to investigation and the man's arrest.

Silgh is said to have told police he was a victim of amnesia. When the prisoner was returned here from Los Angeles about three weeks ago he waived commitment hearing, but later he employed counsel and withdrew his waiver and demanded a trial. No bond had been granted him. The commitment trial had been arranged and set for today and a large crowd gathered outside the court house. Three justices selected for the purpose were on the bench and ready for the trial to start when the attorneys announced that commitment trial was waived and that an agreement for bond was reached.

The case will be tried in the April term of superior court of this county.

DEBT COMMISSION COMPLETES LABORS

Washington D. C., February 9.—The American debt funding commission, which has funded more than $10,000,000,000 of world war debts owed by foreign governments, passed out of existence today.

It has funded all of the large debts, and all of them except the French agreement have been funded. The commission has notified the French government that it is being withheld until the French government ratifies it.

The commission was unable to negotiate funding agreements with Russia, Greece, Austria and Liberia. There is no government which the United States recognizes in Russia. Austria has been given a moratorium until 1933.

ESCAPED CONVICT HELD AS KIDNAPER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Augusta, Ga., February 9.—(AP)—Ben Sharp, escaped convict from the Richmond county stockade, and Jessie Mae Ross, whom he is alleged to have kidnapped Monday from a schoolhouse near Columbia, were apprehended tonight at Belvedere, S. C., at the home of Mrs. L. V. Tyce, who is being held at Columbia in connection with the kidnapping.

The pair is being held in jail at North Augusta, S. C.

Sharp and the Ross girl claim to be married, according to a statement by B. W. Creed, of North Augusta, who made the arrest, but they could produce no papers to show that they are.

The sheriff of Richmond county will carry the pair to Columbia. Sharp, with Mrs. Tyce, is charged with kidnapping the girl in a warrant sworn out by her mother, who lives ten miles north of Columbia.

Sharp escaped from the Richmond county stockade here last summer. He was serving a sentence for robbery.

J. E. Webb, Former Lowndes Legislator, Passes at Hahira

Hahira, Ga., February 9.—(Special.)—Funeral services were held here yesterday for J. E. Webb, prominent citizen and former legislator, who died Saturday night at his home here after a long illness. Rev. L. S. Barton, assisted by Rev. R. L. Watkins, officiated. Interment was in Masonic honors, members of four lodges, Hahira, Cecil, Adel and Valdosta, participating. Interment was at Shiloh.

Mr. Webb had been in public affairs for a number of years, having served the county as a member of the board of education, as commissioner and as legislator from Lowndes county, for two terms, 1915-16 and 1921-22.

During his term in the legislature he was the author of several bills that became state laws and was influential in having the South Georgia Woman's college located at Valdosta.

He served Hahira as a member of the city council for six years, being a member of that body at the time of his death. He was a Mason and a Shriner, his membership being with Alea temple, Savannah. He had served the Methodist church as steward and trustee for 30 years.

THREE NEW YORK PLAYS RAIDED BY POLICE

Three members of the cast arrived in other taxis to turn themselves over to the law.

Helen Menken, title role actress in "The Captive," showed up later, thin and nervous as she has familiarized herself to the rigor of her coast to coast. Her pale red hair was tucked under a small greenish hat. She was greeted by Nathan Burkan, Chaplin's attorney, who represented the entire "Captive" personnel.

"Accompanying Dorothy Hall, the star of 'The Virgin Man,' was her physician. He told reporters that Miss Hall was suffering from appendicitis and that the curtain of the play had been delayed 20 minutes by her illness earlier in the evening. 'The Virgin Man' is the only one of the three plays hit by the censorship drive that has not been closing money."

The crowd made the arraignment a tedious process. The charge was violation of section 1140 of the penal code.

DIAZ FORCES TAKE NICARAGUAN CITY

BY GERALD MARTIN.
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Managua, Nicaragua, February 9.—While the city is rejoicing over the government victory, recapturing Chinendega, a rumor from Chinendega was to the effect that Ricardo Lopez Calles, minister of government and actual cabinet chairman, was killed by liberals. Senor Calles' home in Chinendega was burned to the ground and his whereabouts are unknown.

There was hand-to-hand fighting in Chinendega throughout the day. Hundreds were killed and wounded on both sides while the hospitals in Managua are overcrowded. President Diaz admits 150 troops were killed and 200 wounded on the conservative side.

The battlefield is a scene of desolation. Buildings everywhere in Nicaragua's third city are destroyed. The Tribune Press service correspondent accompanied government troops this afternoon to the scene of battle, where I witnessed youths of 12 or 13 years of age carrying out-of-date rifles, conscripted from farms and from stores, battling under the Diaz colors against their brothers holding Chinendega.

DIAZ WILL STEP ASIDE, IF U. S. WISHES.
Managua, Nicaragua, February 9.—(AP)—President Diaz, head of the conservative government, declared to The Associated Press staff correspondent today he was ready to give way to someone else, if that seemed best to the United States.

"My interests, hopes and ambitions," he said, "are only for Nicaragua, peace and progress, and the friendship of the United States. If the United States should think best that we give way to someone else as a means of furthering the best interests of Nicaragua, I should do so immediately."

"So long as I am president, and under subsequent administrations, I think the United States marines should remain in Nicaragua. This is the only means of preventing revolutions and guaranteeing uninterrupted progress of the coast-to-coast railroad which I planned, paved highways, educational systems allowing the Nicaraguans to realize their natural physical advantages, and possibilities of development during peace time."

"I always opposed removing the marines from Nicaragua, and I welcome their return to aid our nation."

U. S. 'IMPERIALISM' IN NICARAGUA.
Brussels, February 9.—Charging that the United States is protecting the reactionaries in Nicaragua and attempting to create naval bases in Pacific countries, Senor Mella, Central American leader, launched an attack against alleged American imperialism immediately upon the opening of the anti-imperialist congress here Wednesday.

Mella declared that the United States was trying to corner the natural resources of Pacific countries. He charged that the United States desired a base in Nicaragua as a preliminary step to construction of a canal there.

Dynamite Death Probe Reveals 'Wife Trading'

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Pittsburg, Kan., February 9.—In a series of frank admissions from the witness stand today Mrs. Mary Davis established a "wife trading" tangle as a motive in the Mayberry dynamite deaths.

The testimony was before a coroner's jury. She told how Harvey Davis, her husband and Mrs. Mayberry lived as husband and wife, and admitted a similar relationship between herself and Mayberry. The two couples lived together seven months in the Mayberry home.

Out of this affair arose the trouble which led to threats and home disruption, brought to a climax Sunday night by a dynamite explosion in the home of Mrs. Mayberry. The two Mayberry children were killed and the mother, sleeping with them, in the same bed, was injured.

Mayberry is in jail and will be charged with first degree murder. The Davises were arrested but have been released.

An erratic letter written by Mrs. Davis to Mayberry was read to the jury by Prosecutor Patterson. The letter read in part:

"Darling Love: I saw Mrs. M. last night and she was so spiteful. If no one had been around I would have beat her so no one would have known her. And sometime when I am prepared, something will happen, and I don't care what they do with me."

"Oh, darling, I have nothing to live for. You have your children. You better tell Mr. M. to rush me to trial so we can be married. Darling, surely if I die, I will find my reward in heaven. I guess you doubt me going through, but I don't."

Mr. Davis, detailing her actions, said she and her husband went to Sunday school in the morning, made a drive in the afternoon, went to church at night and retired. They were arrested at their home after the explosion late Sunday night.

which has to do with "incense public performances."

Formal pleas of not guilty were entered by attorneys for east and producers. By agreement, Justice John D. Flood, released bonds—$1,000—a drama.

Hearings on the case of "The Captive" and "The Virgin Man" were set for Monday afternoon in Jefferson Market court.

The fate of "Sex" was set for decision in night court Tuesday afternoon.

Parents Held After Poison Death of Girl

Centerville, Ala., February 9.—(AP) Mrs. Dovie Greathouse, 35, was arrested late this afternoon on a warrant charging murder in connection with the death January 14 of her 15-year-old stepdaughter, Mollie.

Mrs. Greathouse was indicted yesterday by the Bibb county grand jury, but the action was not made public until after her arrest today.

Her husband, R. F. Greathouse, father of Mollie, also was indicted for first-degree murder and is held with his wife in the Bibb county jail. Trial has been set for early in March.

The child died in convulsions after drinking a cup of coffee and while apparently in good health. An examination of the girl's vital organs by Dr. B. B. Ross, state chemist, is said to have disclosed large quantities of poison.

FLAMES DESTROY NAVY WAREHOUSE IN BROOKLYN YARD

Brooklyn, February 9.—A warehouse used to store ordnance supplies was destroyed by fire tonight at the Brooklyn navy yard. Three other buildings in the group were saved.

Loss was estimated at $1,000,000. The fire, which was discovered shortly before 7 o'clock, burned fiercely for an hour before the navy yard fire corps, aided by city companies, brought it under control.

The burned buildings was some distance from munitions and other explosives, but firemen directed their attention particularly to preventing the spread of the flames to buildings where explosions might have occurred.

The flames leaped high in the air, attracting thousands who watched the fire from a distance.

Navy officials said the damages would probably reach more than a million dollars.

Five hundred sailors and marines were called to assist city firemen.

LINERS MAKE PORT AFTER ROUGH SEAS

New York, February 9.—(United News.)—Sixty-foot waves, kicked up by winds that blew 120 miles an hour, injured passengers and spread terror on three giant ocean liners which came into port today from Europe, one to two days overdue.

Days and nights of increasing fear that reached a climax on February 8, when lightning suddenly lit up the seas that tossed the liners about like chips, thunder sounded above the roaring wind and hailstones forming an impenetrable curtain were described by crew and passengers.

The liners were the Hamburg of the Hamburg-American line, with 905 passengers, two days late; the Cunarder, Aurania, with 197 passengers two days late, and the White Star liner, Olympic, with 806 passengers, one day late.

All the ships were plainly scarred by their battles with the north Atlantic.

ALABAMA EDITOR NAMED IN CHARGE OF CRIMINAL LIBEL

Montgomery, Ala., February 9.—(AP) Charlie C. McCall, attorney general, left this evening for Birmingham, Ala., where, he said, he will swear out new warrants for the arrest of Frederick L. Thompson, publisher of the Birmingham Age-Herald and other newspapers, on charges of criminal libel, and will also institute civil suit for damages.

His action, the attorney general told newspapermen, grew out of an editorial published Sunday in the Birmingham Age-Herald, which, he said, criticized him for his conduct of the state's suit to reduce the cost of school books in Alabama and also mentioned him as having been identified with the Ku Klux Klan.

Mr. McCall last Monday swore out an affidavit here for the issuance of a warrant in Birmingham, but this

All 'Unknown Soldiers' Here Sought for Legion Honor Roll

Atlanta's 60,000 school children Wednesday concluded their part in the search for the names of all Atlanta's "unknown soldiers," undertaken last week by the Atlanta post of the American Legion at the request of Mayor J. N. Ragsdale.

Several thousand veterans of the world war whose names might otherwise have gone down into posterity unremembered and unsung were discovered by the youngsters and reported to Legion headquarters to be placed on the city's roll of honor.

"There are still hundreds of world war veterans in Atlanta whose names will never find a place on any war memorial that may be built in Atlanta unless they themselves will help the Legion to find them," John M. Slaton, Jr., chairman of the honor roll committee declared.

"We hope that for the sake of keeping the records complete, even if not for any deserved personal glory, every war veteran who was not tagged this week by a school child will send his name in to Legion headquarters at 328 Palmer building, so we can list him," Mr. Slaton said.

A coupon is printed with this story for the signature and address of any veteran who is not sure that his name is already on the honor roll.

Mr. Thompson, who denied in a formal statement that the editorial was libelous, when to the sheriff's office in Birmingham Tuesday to accept service on the original warrant, but the sheriff refused to serve it because the technicality rendered it void.

The pension plan applies to all the approximately 250,000 employees of the steel corporation and its subsidiaries.

Blood count record made by a Pathological Laboratory of an actual case in which S. S. S. was demonstrated to be a powerful builder of red blood corpuscles. A patient was selected who was in a very run-down condition. His blood count was below 3,500,000. At the end of the first week, it was above 3,500,000. At the end of the third week above 4,000,000. At the end of the fourth week above 4,250,000. At the end of the sixth week, the count was normal—5,000,000.

Loss of appetite, loss of strength, skin disorders, rheumatism, that "tired-feeling" and other human ills may be due to your blood not having enough red cells.

Pathological laboratories do not depend upon guess-work. They have means by which they can count the number of red corpuscles in a drop of blood. Every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy human blood should contain approximately 5,000,000 red corpuscles—those tiny red particles which flow along the blood stream, giving color to the blood, carrying nourishment to the cells of the body, and working against disease.

Recently, in one of the pathological laboratories of our country, the skilled scientists made tests to determine whether S.S.S. really does what its proprietors claim for it; namely, whether it actually increases the number of red corpuscles in the blood. They secured a number of persons in a rundown condition, examined their blood and found the red corpuscles count low. Without letting the patients know what they were taking, they put them on a course of S.S.S., and made constant new counts to determine the result.

Science has found that S.S.S. does what is claimed for it

The particular chart shown above is of a patient who was so "run-down" that the corpuscle count was less than three and one-half million at the beginning, but who, on a six weeks course of S.S.S. regained his normal blood count.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, pimples and boils, rheumatism, and even more serious ailments.

S.S.S. has a proved record of over 100 years

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S. Each one of its several, selected ingredients has a distinct and particular purpose. An unusual and predominating feature about S.S.S. is that it is manufactured from the fresh herbs and barks, gathered from the forests and fields of Nature at the right season of the year when these particular herbs and barks are in the most favorable state for gathering.

The health-giving "juices" and extracts which are in S.S.S. have made it famous. For over 100 years it has served mankind in helping Nature build red blood corpuscles!

Get your blood right
If you desire firm flesh, glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessing of good health you must keep your blood in good condition. You owe it to yourself and your family to keep your system in tone—to avoid that run-down condition that so often results in serious disease and disability. From S. S. S. users comes our slogan.

"S. S. S. makes you feel like yourself again."

is sold at every good drug store in the United States. The larger size bottle is more economical. If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, rheumatism, or have that "tired feeling," try a few bottles of S. S. S. Seek energy, vitality, and that longed-for endurance through the time-tried vegetable remedy Nature has provided. Why not start taking S. S. S. today?

Slight Reduction
In Opera Prices
On Single Seats

Only one change will be made in the scale of admission tickets for grand opera in Atlanta this season and that change will be a reduction, it was announced Wednesday by the Atlanta Music Festival association.

The prices of the rear seats for single admissions in the dress circle will be lowered slightly while all other single admission tickets will be sold at the same prices as prevailed last year.

Because this season will include nine operas instead of eight, the prices for season tickets will be slightly greater than last year but only the pro rata rate for the extra opera will be added. Instead of $100, the price for season tickets will be $110.

Under a new arrangement there will be no particular section set aside for out-of-town visitors, as seats will be reserved in various parts of the theater and the out-of-town buyer will have just as good chance to obtain good seats as the home buyers.

The scale of prices for this season follows:
Prices for the boxes are placed at $350 for the season; for six-seat-box, single seats, $55.00; for four-seat-box, $37.50; for the season, single seats, $37.

The price for the arena seats, for the first 13 rows, $8.00 for the season; single seats, $7. In rows 14 to 25, inclusive, the season ticket is priced at $40, the single seat, $6.50. For the remainder of the arena, the season ticket is $30, the single seat, $5.00.

For single performances the dress circle will be as heretofore, with the exception of the reduction in the rear seats, first three rows, $6.50; rows four to six, inclusive, $5.50; rows seven to eleven, $3.50. The latter price is a marked reduction from the $4.00 which was the dress circle last season available for less than $4. Under the new plan, hundreds of the most choice seats in the dress circle may be obtained for $3.50. The dress circle season tickets will be, correspondingly, $40 for first three rows, $30 rows four to six, inclusive, and $24 for rows seven to eleven, inclusive.

The entire center balcony will be priced at $26 for the season ticket and $4.25 single. The first four rows of the side balconies will be $24 for the season ticket, $3.50 single; next five rows, $18 for the season and $3 single; last two rows sold singly only $2.

ASSOCIATION ENDS
CONVENTION HERE

The Southern Morris Plan Bankers' association closed its first convention here Wednesday at the Biltmore hotel. Representatives from Morris plan banks in Asheville, Savannah, Nashville, New Orleans, Birmingham, Tampa, Chattanooga, Knoxville and Wichita ended the gathering at which E. B. McCune, of Savannah, president of the association, presided.

A prominent visitor was Walter D. Brown, of Philadelphia, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Morris Plan Banks.

Morris Plan banks were organized about 20 years ago with the idea of extending loan facilities to salaried workers and wage earners. Since that time they have spread to practically every large city in the United States.

W. Woods White, president and founder of the Atlanta company, was in charge of local arrangements.

BOY'S WILDNESS
ACCOUNTED FOR
AFTER 12 YEARS

Although he is only 24 years old, W. T. Golding, of 1567 Rogers avenue, S. W., has a hectic past that reads something like "Peck's Bad Boy."

Joining the navy at 15, Golding promptly deserted for no reason at all. Then he took a fling at the army and was sent to the Panama canal.

Again he took French leave and returned to New York, his boyhood home.

Civilian service beckoned and Golding connected with a good job. Six times he resigned and six times he went back. Things looked bad.

Recently young Golding came to Atlanta to visit his brother, George E. Golding, United States intelligence officer, stationed here. The elder brother sent him for an X-ray photograph and examination, and the trouble was located.

A fracture of the skull, received 12 years ago in Brooklyn, was disclosed as responsible for the youth's irregularity. Today he is recovering with a plate in his skull.

BATTLE TO OUST
DILLON IS BEGUN

New York, February 9.—(AP)—Ten individuals representing themselves and more than 50,000 stockholders of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, today filed suit in supreme court here against Clarence Dillon, president of Dillon, Read and Company of Akron, Ohio, to remove him from management power in the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and to account for the $15,000,000 profits alleged to have been "wrongfully made" through the acquisition of management stock.

The stockholders who are plaintiffs in the action are F. C. Tomlinson, Frank C. Howland, P. H. Schneider, Paul V. Robinson, William T. Bentz, Robert H. Bishop, Jr., George B. Durell, H. A. Leisy and Frederick W. Freeman and G. E. Morse.

The filing of the suit today follows a hearing held here a few days ago which, according to attorneys for the stockholders, brought out that Dillon, Read and Company closed its offices in Ohio when summonses were issued to effect an accounting there.

The stockholders complain that Dillon, together with John Sherwin, of New York, obtained control of the management of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company and operated stock transactions for their own profit.

10 Persons Arrested
In Alleged Kidnaping
Of Citizen of Macon

Miami, Fla., February 9.—(AP)—Miami police today arrested six men and four women arrested last night in connection with the alleged kidnaping of F. A. Hunnicutt, 23, Macon, Ga., yesterday morning in front of the Miami Beach police station. Their names were withheld.

Hunnicutt charged that upon his release from jail yesterday after an overnight confinement on larceny charges, preferred against him by C. C. Jewel, 21, he was spirited away in an automobile. Later in the day an unnamed woman advised officers that Hunnicutt had been abducted and taken to a certain house where police captured the 10 persons and found Hunnicutt hidden.

Hunnicutt had been arrested upon complaint of Jewel, who accused him of having stolen a $400 ring and $50 in cash from him. Jewel yesterday dismissed the charges and Hunnicutt was released.

Don't Tempt Misfortune;
Secure Your Protection

Why tempt misfortune? Those who do often compose the element in society that stands in need of charity; their children keep orphan's homes running busily.

It's best to pause and sanely think out problems that affect you, and then take measures to guard yourself against hazards that beset your path in life.

Every day you read in the newspapers of some horrible accident which claims life or limb, and you know that privation will result. Proper insurance protection would have averted this latter situation.

Are you properly insured? Are your loved ones safeguarded against this sort of thing?

The Constitution, through its offer to its readers of the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the old reliable North American Accident Insurance company, provides you an opportunity to protect yourself, your wife and your children efficiently at an insignificant cost.

For $1.25 per year you can secure the $7,500 travel accident policy—available only through The Constitution. This policy provides payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in event of death from certain specified accidents; heavy sums for permanent injuries and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from them.

You may be killed today in a train wreck, in a crash of automobiles under the wheels of a speeding car, in a burning building. Your income may be cut off, and you may become a drag upon your family.

Watch for advertisements appearing regularly in this paper which describe The Constitution's unparalleled offer in detail.

Why Business is Getting the
"Long Distance" Habit

By far the largest share of the 27,327,560 long distance calls originating in our territory last year concerned the production and marketing of goods.

There was a time when Business used "Long Distance" mainly as an emergency measure. But that was before the era of high-pressure competition—when selling was a much more leisurely process.

Nowadays Business is on its toes. More than ever before it finds itself facing the necessity of widening distribution, reducing risks, cutting production and sales costs—saving time.

The long distance telephone lines of the Bell System are fairly humming with the affairs of Business. Their faculty of instantly conquering distance has proven vital

Progress!

Destroys Old Landmarks and Creates NEW ONES!

Progress moves swiftly, in the South—demolishing as it goes, old landmarks which stand in its path.

It seems only yesterday that the Capital City Club, around which so much of the romance and tradition of the Old South revolved, was torn away and a new building erected further out on Peachtree.

The old brown-stone mansion, the Richards home, which adjoined the club property, and the impressive colonial home of the Leyden's, in which General Sherman made his headquarters during the memorable visit in 1864, have also been razed, to make way for the march of progress.

In place of those famous old landmarks, which occupied most of the frontage on Peachtree, between Ellis and Cain streets, rises a commercial giant as amazing in its magnificent proportions as it is practical in its equipment.

This enormous building, standing on the very sites upon which stood cherished landmarks of former days, will, when completed in March, be the new home of an old Southern institution, established in 1890.

Progress, vision, ambition and a keen sense of fair dealing and responsibility to the trading public brought about the tremendous development experienced by the Davison-Paxon Co., in this short span of 37 years.

A wonderful tribute, it is, to Atlanta and the South, that this magnificent department store is the result of the vision of practical Southern men, whose courage and faith in 1890 blossoms so substantially in 1927.

But, the final stroke of genius was the notable affiliation with R. H. Macy & Company, Inc., of New York.

The affiliation of one of the most progressive establishments in the southeast, with "America's Leading Department Store," brought together buying and selling forces of such tremendous power that the economies effected by scientific methods, result in direct savings to our customers.

Thus we anticipate the rapid growth of Atlanta and the South. Thus have the old landmarks surrendered to the march of progress—for the expansion of a great city, and a great institution.

TECHWOOD DRIVE MAY BE IMPROVED

The public works committee of the Fulton county commission Wednesday afternoon accepted a proposition submitted by Councilman Harry York, of the sixth ward, whereby the county shall furnish labor and material in the sum of $40,807.70 toward the grading, widening and paving of Techwood drive. The drive will run from North avenue to Hennessey street. The city will be asked to pay approximately the same amount toward the project.

No delegation appeared before the committee in behalf of the grading of the Forrest avenue extension, which recently has been graded and an underpass completed. At the last session of the commission a large delegation made a strong appeal for the paving but the board postponed action until the meeting Wednesday afternoon at which time ways and means of completing the project were scheduled for discussion.

A petition from city council asking the commission to pay one-half of the sum necessary for the widening and paving of Luckie street was read. No action was taken, however, and members of the Luckie Street Improvement club were asked to investigate the contemplated removal of the street car tracks on Luckie street and to be under consideration by the Georgia Railway and Power company. A report on this investigation will be rendered at the regular meeting of

Difficult Breathing

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat

Nasal catarrh is not only disagreeable and offensive, but it will lead to serious trouble.

That inflamed condition of the mucous membranes of the air passages of the head, nose and throat may spread to the lungs, where it is incurable and a danger to life.

Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes are composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries. The warm smoke vapor is inhaled into the affected air passages and will go where sprays, douches and salves cannot reach. They contain no tobacco or opium, and being harmless, are used by children, as well as adults.

If you suffer from any catarrhal trouble, catarrhal deafness, hoarseness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or are subject to frequent colds, get from any druggist a pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes, and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

GOITRE REDUCED
Two Inches. Choking and Smothering Relieved. A Liment Did It.

Mrs. Geo. Baldwin, College Place, Columbia, S. C., says she will gladly tell of her full experience with a small bottle of Jacobs' Varicose Vein Remedy. She had a large, painful, and dangerous goitre, which she had for many years. It was so large that it interfered with her breathing and she was unable to wear a corset. She had tried many remedies, but nothing had helped her. She then bought a bottle of Jacobs' Varicose Vein Remedy and used it according to the directions. In a few days she noticed a marked improvement. The goitre began to shrink and in a few weeks it was almost gone. She was able to wear a corset again and her breathing was easy. She is now perfectly cured and she is very grateful to Jacobs' Varicose Vein Remedy.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Says Jacobs Pharmacy Co.

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required. After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moore's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in relieving the itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Jacobs Pharmacy Co. sells lots of it.—(adv.)

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

Milton C. Work

The pointer for today is:

When the five-card suit does not contain two quick tricks it should not be bid.

A five-card suit headed by an Ace or a King, contains one quick trick.

The King-Queen suit is a shade stronger than the Ace suit from the standpoint of general value, but from the quick trick standpoint is rated on the same basis. Neither should be bid unless the hand also contains one other quick trick, or more than the equivalent thereof. Taking up in order the illustrations given yesterday:

1. Sp.: Ace-Queen-x-x-x. Ht.: Ace-x-x. Dt.: x-x-x. Cl.: x-x.

It will be noted that in this hand the five-card suit contains more than one quick trick, but not two quick tricks; therefore it should not be bid without a side quick trick or the equivalent. The Ace of Hearts is a quick trick, but the hand having more than the minimum two quick trick requirement, is unquestionably the commission the first Wednesday in March.

The commission's part, according to an estimate of the city engineer will be $171,121. The city has already appropriated $23,000 toward the project.

The commission voted to grade and pave Beecher street with concrete from Donnelly street to Greenwood avenue. Oglethorpe avenue will be repaired and retopped with asphalt, according to a motion passed by the body.

Lake avenue from Ashland avenue to Elizabeth street is to be recapped with asphalt which will be applied at an early date by county forces, it was decided Wednesday on application of property owners.

West Hunter street, from Ashby street to Madison, is to be paved with concrete provided the chairman of the public works committee can reach the project in addition to the program already under way. The paving will be approximately three-quarters of a mile and will only be a completion of West Hunter street project which was begun several years ago.

A request from city council asking the county board to grade Holderness street from Donnelly street to Oakland City was referred to the public works committee for investigation and report. The committee, however, voted to complete grading recently begun on Donnelly street to Ewing place.

Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the public works committee, presided at the session Wednesday afternoon. Other members of the committee are Charles G. Turner and Edwin F. Johnson.

Commissioner Walter B. Stewart brought the matter of widening Stewart avenue to the attention of the committee, declaring that it was the purpose of citizens to make a 32-foot street and to asphalt gutters. The county engineer was ordered to make an estimate of the cost and submit a report to the commission at its next meeting.

ACWORTH DETOUR, OF UNHAPPY FAME, IS THING OF PAST

The state highway board has abandoned a detour on the Atlanta-Chatanooga highway near Acworth, it was announced Wednesday.

This detour has caused motorists considerable trouble in the last few months, but completion of the main highway enabled the highway board to abolish it.

MAYOR SIGNS MANY MEASURES WEDNESDAY

Practically all papers passed Monday by city council and the aldermanic board were approved Wednesday by Mayor J. N. Ragsdale. Only a few chief executive and these were held up pending further study, he said.

The delay was caused by urge of official duties and a desire on the part of Mr. Ragsdale to investigate personally the merits of many of the measures submitted to him for approval.

DUNCAN AGAIN HEADS ATLANTA KENNEL CLUB

For the fourth consecutive term J. J. Duncan, of the Georgia Railway & Power company, was elected president of the Atlanta Kennel club at the annual meeting of the organization held Tuesday in the Astor hotel.

Other officers elected were: Frank Coffee, J. J. McGrath and Hal Lindsay, vice presidents, and L. F. Schellver, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were launched at the meeting for a puppy show to be held in April, at which valuable loving cups will be awarded the winner of each breed, the entrants to be judged by dog fanciers from the east.

The smoking habit was incited in Mrs. Sarah Richmond, 811, Broadway, Neb., she says, when at the age of 10 she held a match to her mother's pipe.

KELVINATOR OFFERS NEW MIDGET ARTICLE

"Sealtite" is a midget household electric refrigerator that has been introduced by Kelvinator, Inc., according to L. S. Bullis, division manager for Kelvinator in Atlanta.

With the standard models of the Kelvinator, in addition to the new light weight model, Mr. Bullis predicts an increase of 400 per cent for 1927 over business of 1926. Mr. Bullis said: "Sealtite" is a midget household electric refrigerator that has been introduced by Kelvinator, Inc., according to L. S. Bullis, division manager for Kelvinator in Atlanta.

This hand represents the minimum in suit-bidding. For many years bidding a five-card suit, headed only by an Ace, with a side Ace and no other strength, was not advised by the leading authorities unless the suit named contained at least one other honor, but it has been found that passing with a hand like No. 2 (containing as it does two quick tricks and a five-card suit which may be established) is apt to result disadvantageously.

3. Sp.: Ace-x-x-x-x. Ht.: King-Queen-x. Dt.: x-x-x. Cl.: x-x. This hand unquestionably should be bid because it is stronger than No. 2. As was stated yesterday, a King-Queen, while rated as only one quick trick, is more valuable than an Ace. Tomorrow's hands:

1. Sp.: Ace-Queen-x-x-x. Ht.: King-Jack-x. Dt.: x-x-x. Cl.: x-x.

2. Sp.: Ace-Queen-x-x-x. Ht.: Queen-x-x. Dt.: x-x-x. Cl.: x-x.

Queen-Jack-x. Dt.: x-x-x. Cl.: x-x. (Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution.)

U. S. Bars Youth From Obedience To Mothers' Call

BY BEN COOPER.

Joe Boyle just couldn't help breaking that old-fashioned commandment about obeying your mother, but it wasn't his fault, because he tried, oh, so hard.

When the blame is properly placed, it comes to rest upon Uncle Sam's expansive shoulders, for it was a hard-hearted federal law that prevented Joe from obeying the maternal command.

It was this way. Joe is confined in Fulton tower on narcotic charges, because some government agents found him preparing to celebrate his recent release, after three years in the Atlanta penitentiary by opening a profitable little drug peddling business.

A telegram came to Joe from his mother in Pennsylvania, and in addition to being brief, it made the motherly command about as stern as any erring boy would be expected to obey. It said: "Come home immediately."

Now, in spite of the fact that Joe is a grown man, there was a subtle inference in that "immediately" which brooked no delay, with just a suggestion of a good old-fashioned paddling with a hair brush if he didn't mind.

So Joe sat down and wrote a letter to Federal Judge Samuel S. Sibley. It, also, was brief and to the point. He inclosed the telegram.

The letter said, in effect: "My mother has telegraphed me to come home immediately, and, you see, I've just got to go. I can't get out of it because I have to mind her. I must go."

But Judge Sibley couldn't see the point. To mind one's mother is one thing, and to let a federal prisoner go just because his mother wants him to come home, is another. So Joe will have to be content with writing his mother that he can't come home because he is to face the federal grand jury in the near future and explain how he happened to have such a large amount of morphine in his possession.

Contract Bridge—The Newest Game

BY E. V. SHEPARD
(Bridge Authority and Author of Textbooks on the Game)

V. BID FOR A PROBABLE GAME

A Contract game cannot be scored unless bid, so keep bidding until you have contracted for the probable game. Never guess at your probable tricks; learn how to estimate them accurately; that can readily be done by a new method, just devised to meet the requirements of Contract, but of that we will speak later. Nearly all Auction bidders guess, whereas they should know the probable values of hands. Guessing at how high one can bid is like guessing whether a fellow has enough money to pay for the dinner he is buying for his best girl—very and if he guesses wrong.

Deal the following hand, and passed on account of lacking the two sure tricks required to open the bidding. A also passed; Y was obligated to show his four sure tricks by bidding a spade. B passed; Y's third-hand opening bid indicated five probable assisting tricks for a strong secondary declaration of Z's hand, so he bid 2 hearts, expecting to win game in case Y held normal heart support, as Z's hand must be valued at five probable tricks.

After A's pass, Y had a duty to perform. Of course he could not know whether Z's overall meant an emphatic denial of proper aid for Y's spades or meant that Z had a probable game hand at hearts, but Y must find out by bidding 3-Hearts, showing normal aid for that call and all the side aid that his opening spade bid suggested. B again passed, but Z ended the bidding by going 4-Hearts.

Any opening lead except a diamond would have yielded 5-odd, as Z could then have discarded two losing diamonds on dummy's two good spades. Of course A led diamond K. Before playing a single card to the opening lead a declarer should always review his resources and take full advantage of his ability to play the joint 26 cards of his side. Z saw that he must lose a single club; he must also tion to any no-trump lacking all four aces in the declaring hand. Had Y bid no-trump he could have made only 2-odd, as the average values of cards held only when the 26 cards of the joint hands are played at their best declaration. B's opening lead of his fourth-best diamond at no-trump would have held the score down to less than game, because the defenders must have won three diamond, one club, and one heart trick, a total of five defensive tricks. More on valuing hands in tomorrow's article.

Miami, Fla., February 9.—(AP)—Samuel Risman, 52, of Buffalo, N. Y., long term lessee of the Henrietta Towers, fashionable Dallas Park apartment hotel, fell 10 floors from the top of the building to his death early today.

The body revealed a fractured skull and broken bones, indicating the impact of the crash. One hand was bruised badly and a small gash in the abdomen believed to have been caused by contact with a tree branch in the fall, showed a blood clot.

Deputy sheriffs were advised Risman recently had worried over domestic and financial difficulties, and that he was in arrears in meeting payments on his lease of the building.

attitude of that body over payment of board employees for January services before the revised budget was approved by that committee, but they declined to give an expression. Dr. R. M. Eubanks stated that they would not comment and that since all legal barriers to payment have been removed, checks will be delivered by 9 o'clock this morning.

It was not expected that the advisory committee will object to payment of salary accounts for January since they are already due and must be paid in any event.

May Save Closing.
In making the budget and tentatively agreeing to close the schools for a month between September 1 and January 1, the board expressed the hope that sufficient funds to continue operation for the entire school term may yet be found before actual closing takes place.

Dr. Eubanks stated Wednesday night that if the schools are forced to close this fall for the month, this could be made up by running farther into the summer of 1928, and thus students would be required for college entrance.

The school department, operated under the revised budget, will face a season of rigid economy and every saving possible will be affected, officials stated.

Several teachers, with whom the board has not a civil service contract will be dropped from the system in the consolidation scheme, it was said.

Discovery of Distinguished Chemist Said to Be Greatest Medical Find of the Age.

When you notice that your tongue is becoming coated, your breath heavy or feverish, your skin sallow, your mind and body sluggish, or when you suffer frequently with bilious headaches, you should promptly correct the cause, which is a torpid liver and inactive bowels, but beware of strong purgatives that goad the liver and merely cause a "chemical" evacuation, leaving the system weak and run-down.

You will get much quicker and more pleasant and lasting relief by flushing the liver and bowels with Alzetox, the recent discovery of a distinguished chemist. Alzetox is a liquid saline solution of well-known mineral salts, dominated by sulphate of magnesium, which causes a physical (natural) evacuation of the entire intestinal tract, at the same time neutralizing the acidity and fortifying the system. Alzetox is pleasant to take, non-irritating, non-absorbent and will not sicken or nauseate. 2½ and 6½ sizes at any drug store. Mrs. Eugene R. every year in increasing numbers from its ranks and of everyone who has observed the constructive work accomplished by these young boys," he declared.

The Junior League subscription was presented without solicitation Wednesday afternoon to the campaign committee through Mrs. Eugene R. Black, president, and Mrs. Robin Peeples, an officer.

"The subscription is really in the nature of a thank offering to the Boy Scouts in appreciation of the generous and never-failing help the youngsters have given the Junior League in the various charities we support and help to support," Mrs. Black explained.

Cites Savings.
Boy Scouts regularly assist poverty-stricken patients of the clinic supported by the Junior League to make their regular visits for treatment, effecting a saving in transportation cost which is expended for medical supplies and other necessary things to increase the number of deserving people who can be served.

"It is probable that the service supplied to all Atlanta's charitable organizations by the scouts, and which would have to be paid for otherwise, saves their principles of helpfulness, saves other organizations each year the entire cost of maintaining the Scout organization," Mr. Wardlaw asserted.

"This Junior League gift, like the presence of more than 70 other organizations in the 'Appreciation day' parade Tuesday, is an evidence of the city-wide appreciation for the scouts and their program," he said.

Leaders Subscribe.
Subscriptions of the 11 active leaders in the campaign were reported also Wednesday, amounting in all to $2,550 and including subscriptions of $500 each from T. G. Woodford, treasurer; Eugene Harrington, president; and R. C. Darby, committeeman; $325 from Thomas C. Law; $250 each from W. C. Wardlaw and Hal F. Hentz, division chairman, and $200 from Thomas H. Daniel, committeeman, in addition to a previous $250 subscription toward the fund with which the camp site was purchased and the dam built to impound a lake.

F. M. Spratt's division retained its leadership in the amount of money raised during the day by a narrow margin, reporting $2,545 against $2,300 reported by Dana Belser's division, and $2,420 by Hal F. Hentz's division.

J. C. Savage's team, in Hentz's division, was the leading team of the day in amount of money secured, reporting $865 from 27 givers. Evelyn Harris' team, in Spratt's division, took second place, with $555 from 17 persons, over Earle Greene's team in Hentz's division, with $533 from 27 persons.

Rhodes Scholar Gives.
Atlanta's only Rhodes scholar, Robert S. Sams, Wednesday was listed among subscribers to the fund, his subscription being designated as "part payment for the training which has given me a start in life."

The check was mailed nearly two weeks ago from Oxford, England, where young Sams is now studying under provisions of the Rhodes scholarship which he won as being the "best all-around college man" who could be found in the state of Georgia by a strict board of judges three years ago.

The subscription was sent in care of Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, who was formerly Boy Scout commissioner, and was scoutmaster of the troop, organized at Tech High school, in which Bob Sams received his first introduction to scouting.

ORGANIZED LABOR BACKS SCOUT DRIVE

Pledging the support of organized labor in Atlanta to the Boy Scout movement and subscribing to the financial campaign now in progress to establish the Bert Adams scout reservation near this city, the Atlanta Federation of Trades at its regular meeting Wednesday night went on record as endorsing the movement.

The resolution endorsing the scout program was adopted following presentation of the Atlanta public school system and to do everything possible "to protect the interests of the school children of Atlanta."

Discussion of the financial crisis in which the public schools now find themselves developed the idea that "somebody is trying to get even with somebody else at the expense of the children." This opinion being expressed in no uncertain terms by various speakers who declared that factional prejudice is largely responsible for the present financial difficulties in the school system.

YOUNG HARRIS COLLEGE HONORS COLONEL PEEL

Young Harris, Ga., February 9.—(Special).—The student body of Young Harris college, greatly bereaved by the death of their loyal friend, Colonel W. L. Peel, showed its respect by assembling at the chapel and standing with bowed heads for several moments at the time of the funeral.

A poem, written about Mr. Peel by A. G. Young, of Atlanta, a student, was read as expressing the sentiment and bereavement of the student body. Colonel Peel was greatly interested in Young Harris college and it is rightfully called his last work, he having headed the recent campaign committee when a fund was raised for the college.

Sparta Postal Gains

Sparta, Ga., February 9.—(Special).—The receipts of the Sparta postoffice have increased materially during the past four years during the administration of James M. Lewis, postmaster. The postoffice is still in third class, but is very close to the second class requirements, and it is thought this year more than enough receipts will be forthcoming to put the office in this class.

Booze Permits Used as Chips In Poker Game

(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, Ill., February 9.—The local prohibition enforcement office is investigating a report that doctors on the staff of the Edward Hines, Jr., hospital, of the United States Veterans' bureau have been using liquor prescriptions as poker chips.

Wholesaling of prescription blanks to bootlegging druggists at $3 each, and poker games with permits used instead of cash, were among the allegations reported to Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yellowley, who conferred with Colonel W. C. Francis today, chief of staff of the hospital, regarding the investigation. Mr. Yellowley pointed out that the hospital was not involved in the probe, which applies only to the use of liquor permits by physicians in their private practice.

According to Colonel Francis only 14 of the 31 physicians on the hospital staff have availed themselves of the privilege of prescribing whisky.

"The doctors involved spend only a few hours a day at the hospital," said Mr. Yellowley. "If doctors are found guilty it would mean revocation of permits unless collusion between them and druggists on a large scale is exposed, in which case there would be a basis for conspiracy charges."

Colonel Francis said the report of poker games with prescription "chips" was "the product of a fevered brain."

SALVATION ARMY MEN ARE VICTIMS OF FOUR BANDITS

Howard Ballard and Edward Hadaway, both of the Salvation Army, were held up and robbed of $10 each by four negroes while walking along Piedmont avenue near Edgewood avenue, early Wednesday night, according to police reports. A description of the footpads was given to police.

Mrs. U. C. Roumillat, of 139 Currier street, reported to police that her purse containing $3 and a large quantity of stamps was snatched as she walked on Courtland street near Currier street early Wednesday night.

BYRD WILL ENTER OVERSEAS FLIGHT

New York, February 9.—(AP)—Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd, air conqueror of the north pole, will compete in a few months for the $25,000 prize offered by Raymond Orteig for the first non-stop flight between New York and Paris, The New York Times says today.

Floyd Bennett, naval aviation mechanist and Byrd's pilot when he flew from Spitzbergen to the north pole and back last spring, will be with the polar star in his new undertaking. The Times states, and has obtained a six months' leave of absence from the navy. Lieutenant Brent Balchen, of the Norwegian navy, will probably be a member of the trans-Atlantic crew. A Fokker monoplane, which Byrd reached the top of the world, is now being built for the flier for use in the coming flight. The new machine, slightly larger than the Josephine Ford type, in which Byrd and Ford will be driven by three Wright whirling engines of 225 horsepower each.

SEABOARD TRAINS MAINTAIN HIGH SERVICE RECORD

Passengers of the Seaboard Air Line railroad arrived where they were going "on time" during the month of January.

The January monthly report of train service on that railroad reveals the fact that schedules were maintained almost to the letter. This is the way the various divisions performed.

Virginia division, schedule maintained—98.9 percent; North Carolina division, 96.3; South Carolina, 89.5; Georgia, 95.1; East Carolina, 100; Alabama, 95.6; North Florida, 89.9; West Florida, 93.3; East Florida, 95.2; South Florida, 90.9.

Vienna is as gay as ever. An average of 60 entertainments paid license fees every day last year.

SURPRISE WITNESS FACES DAUGHTERTY

New York, February 9.—(AP)—The government called a surprise witness in today's session of the Daugherty-Miller trial. Arthur Brent, negro butler to three presidents, took the stand late in the day to give an intimate picture of life in the eight-room suite that Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, occupied in the Wardman Park hotel, Washington, with Jess W. Smith, who ended his life there. Brent did not testify at the first trial.

Brent, who served as butler to Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, said that from October, 1921, to January, 1922, the suite was the rendezvous for many prominent men, including President Harding, who once visited Daugherty there. John T. King, one-time national republican committeeman from Connecticut, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian and co-defendant with Daugherty, were also visitors, he said. The suite, he said, was occupied by Senator Guy B. Goff before Daugherty rented it.

At none of the meetings, Brent said under cross-examination, was the name of Richard Merton, German metal magnate, or the American Metal company, mentioned. Brent also was stenographer for Daugherty.

he said, and in all his correspondence he never saw the names of Merton or the American Metal company mentioned.

Daugherty and Miller are charged with defrauding the United States of their honest and best services in connection with the return of $7,000,000 of assets of the American Metal company, which were seized during the war as enemy-owned property.

Exchanged Bonds.

Calling witnesses in rapid succession, the government showed that Miller obtained transportation vouchers from Washington to Philadelphia for February 5, 1923. On that day, Vincent A. Carroll, an attorney in the alien property custodian's bureau, exchanged two $10,000 Liberty bonds—bearing serial numbers of two Merton gave King—at the federal reserve bank in Philadelphia. He was given 20 $1,000 bonds in exchange.

yes-Everyone says
"Nothing like it in the World"

In appearance and value, as well as performance, Hudson is the most talked of car of the year. Everyone is saying there is "nothing like it in the world".

At the automobile shows, in dealers' salesrooms, and wherever automobiles are talked about, the release of the Super-Six principle to full capacity is of outstanding interest.

The Super-Six has the smoothness of an electric motor. Four years' development led to full release of its capacity in power, stamina and safety. It led to a new chassis capable of safely using the wide range and long life of the motor. New driving delights resulted. From the effortless smoothness with which the Super-Six whisks you into motion, to the carefree way in which you may make any trip from a journey down-town to a run across the continent, there remains throughout the zest of driving that is possible only to its elastic and smooth flow of power.

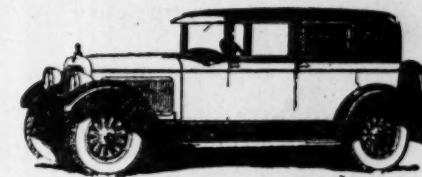

Your Hudson Super-Six never extends itself. It always has reserve power for the approaching hill or for greater speed. And its four-wheel brakes with the flexibility of the motor permit a flashing nimbleness you will like. The joy of driving is not dulled through weariness. You set your speed with full knowledge that you may go faster if need be or may stop suddenly with perfect ease and safety. There is restful security in the way the Hudson Super-Six clings to the road, and in the ease and quietness of its action.

And there is a car in its seven new body types that meets any desire for beauty, comfort and luxury.

Arrangements for the cantata to be presented by the choir of the First Methodist church, at St. Paul's Methodist church, corner of Grant and Sidney streets, on Tuesday, February 15, have practically been completed. It was announced Wednesday.

day by Dr. B. F. Fraser, pastor of St. Paul's. Tickets of admission are now on sale.

Mrs. Regina Rambo Benson, prominent Marietta matron, is director of the choir, which contains 30 people and has gained a far-reaching reputation.

tion, "King Saul," the cantata that will be presented in Atlanta by the choir, has been successfully given at Marietta and Canton, Ga. It is a musical drama based on the life of the first king of Israel and includes many famous Biblical characters.

unnecessary, and the further declaration by the nationalist government that it would sign no agreement with Great Britain preliminary to a treaty if armed forces were landed at Shanghai.

Two regiments of British troops, from Gloucestershire and Durham, departed for Hongkong toward Shanghai, continuing their voyage from England. They will form part of the force of more than 16,000 British and numerous warships that Great Britain has ordered assembled at or near Shanghai as a result of Chinese hostility.

The fiercest phase of the fighting in Oporto, adds the correspondent, was in Santa Catarina street and Batalha square, where the rebels' headquarters was protected by barricades 20 feet high, and they had plenty of artillery and machine guns.

Regarding a tragic incident on the gunboat Bengo which joined in the revolt, he says it is reported the crew locked the commander, who was staunchly loyal to the government, in his cabin, and when he heard them firing the ship's guns against the troops, he committed suicide.

NEWS FROM PORTUGAL
BAD STATES RIVERA.
Madrid, February 9.—(United News).—Recent news from Portugal is bad. Premier Primo De Rivera, of Spain, told newspapermen Wednesday, "The rebel movement is spreading and the whole of northern Portugal is now in the hands of insurgents."

MANY CORPSES LEFT ON OPORTO STREETS.
London, February 9.—(United News).—Two hundred persons have been killed and many wounded, according to estimates of a traveler from Oporto, given the Daily Mail's Viga correspondent.

Many corpses are said to have been left on the streets of Oporto for several days.

U. S. BATTLESHIPS READY FOR CALL.
Washington, February 9.—(United News).—American warships are ready for a call to Portugal where revolution is fighting, says the American minister, Fred M. Dearling, to be driven from his legation by gunfire.

One cruiser and six destroyers are in the Mediterranean district within easy call. They will not be sent to Portugal, however, until Minister Dearling requests it.

ULTIMATUM PLANNED FOR SOUTH CHINA

treaty ports has come to the point where it finds a certain section of the government demanding a complete break with China. These cabinet members, insisting that soviet Russian influence dictates Chen's activities, see nothing to be gained by further dealing with him. They are, thus far, in a minority, but their demands can be seen in the policy outlined Wednesday.

According to the new arrangement, Chen will be told that he must sign the agreement relative to the foreign concessions in Hankow and Kiukiang—which he refused to sign last week because of alleged coercion from Great Britain—until he signs no further points pending between China and Great Britain will be discussed with him. In the Kiukiang-Hankow agreement British Charge d'Affaires O'Malley, for Great Britain, had promised Chen that the British concessions in those places could be operated by police forces, the majority of which would be Chinese. It granted practically all the claims of south China and was considered an exceptionally liberal offer.

Will Not Ask Assistance.
The outline to be sent the United States and the League of Nations will be only an explanation. It was stated that while Great Britain intends to keep the League of Nations advised of its activities in China, there is no disposition to ask league assistance on the problem. The statement will trace the growth of the Chinese situation from promises of abolition of extraterritoriality were made, to the intervention of the Hankow conference by Chen.

The United States, Japan and Italy, by the policies they have stated regarding China, are credited partly with this stiffening of the British attitude. The expressed attitude of all three was taken as decidedly encouraging to the British stand. It also is believed here that the moderate element in Canton will assert itself in favor of continuance of the Hankow negotiations.

BRITISH-CHINESE PARLEY RENEWED.
Shanghai, February 9.—(AP)—British troops and British warships continued their progress today toward Shanghai for the announced purpose of protecting British lives. They retreated despite the protests of both the Pekin and nationalist (Cantonese) governments that such protection was Temporary respite was given today to Benjamin H. Turner, accountant-venditist who traveled from Mexico City to Maine to kill the former friend who, he alleged, had defrauded him.

Sudden illness of Miss Gladys Jordan, foreman of the jury which is trying Turner for the killing of James D. Hallen, caused a postponement until tomorrow of Turner's testimony, which already has embodied the flat statement that he made the long journey with the determination to slay.

"He dies," was his decision, Turner has testified, when Hallen's alleged manipulation came to his notice.

Miss Jordan was rushed to the Maine General hospital.

Turner was taken back to jail and the recess was continued until tomorrow morning, when it was hoped Miss Jordan would be able to resume her place.

GANNA WALSKA TO ASK DIVORCE

New York, February 9.—(AP)—The New York American says Harold F. McCormick and his wife, Ganna Walska, have separated and that a divorce is impending. He is said to have told friends at the Racquet and Tennis club that he and his wife are "through forever." He left New York for Chicago yesterday.

The newspaper says Mr. McCormick will confer with Clarence Darrow, the attorney on his domestic troubles; that his friends here understand a large property settlement has been arranged and that presumably McCormick will be sued for divorce shortly in Paris, where his wife now is.

He is credited with the intention to devote the rest of his life to outdoor recreation and never to marry again.

FORMER GOVERNOR OF PHILIPPINE PROVINCE DIES
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Ames, Iowa, February 9.—A recluse living in a one-room shack on the outskirts of this college town, and earning a bare existence as a day laborer, Chris W. Ney, 56, was revealed today as a former governor of a Philippine Islands province. Ney, who died Monday, was also the holder of degrees from several universities, a veteran of two wars, a once prosperous New York attorney and the editor of the first American newspaper ever published in Manila.

Ney died from injuries received a week ago when he was struck by a falling tree limb. Papers in his safety deposit box, a local bank, revealed him as the brilliant son of a prominent Iowa family.

Ney was a student at Iowa State college here in 1889, but did not graduate. He studied law under Horace Boies, former governor of Iowa, at Waterloo, was admitted to the bar in 1892. He served in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, became a lieutenant and was cited for bravery by General Lawton.

When mustered out of the service, Ney published and edited the Manila Tribune, first newspaper in the Philippine capital. In 1901 he was appointed by Governor General Taft as governor of the province of Nueva Vizcaya on the island of Luzon, and served five years.

While in the Philippines he married Miss Lucinda Ambro, of St. Paul, Minn., a teacher in a school at Manila. On an early visit to the United States, Mrs. Ney died and this tragedy, friends say, cast its shadow over her husband's life. He remained as governor and returned to the United States.

U. S. RULED OUT OF WORLD COURT

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Washington, February 9.—The United States is definitely out of the world court.

Three major powers, including Great Britain, notified the state department today that they are not prepared to accept the American reservations unconditionally. President Coolidge has announced publicly that if the other powers did not accept the American reservations, without change, the United States would remain outside the court. In the light of this pronouncement, administration leaders united in asserting today that the long efforts by the Harding and Coolidge administrations to make the United States a member of the tribunal of international justice have been rendered futile.

Changes Demanded.
Secretary of State Kellogg said he had not had the opportunity to read the British response, but assumed that it conformed to the draft reply drawn up at Geneva. From other sources it was learned that the three replies received today united in following the draft reply evolved by the recent conference at Geneva, where the world court powers agreed not to accept the American reservations unless certain changes were made. The fifth American reservation, concerning advisory opinions, was one of those not accepted.

President Coolidge had no comment today, but it was stated by white house officials that the president had not changed his mind following his Kansas City speech. At that time he said that unless all the nations adhering to the court protocol accepted the American reservations without change, he would not submit that matter to the senate again.

SCHNEIDER BUCKS AGAINST CAUCUS OF REPUBLICANS
Washington, February 9.—(AP)—Plans of administration republicans to head the breach with their insurgent colleagues in the house received a setback today with announcement of Representative Schneider, of Wisconsin, that he had refused an invitation to attend the party caucus February 21.

He declared that the move on the part of republican leaders "to bring back the party caucus, which is a discredited method of binding and gagging members in secret, does not appeal to me."

"I do not want to contribute to the effort of the leaders to muzzle free and independent expression and action of any member of my party," he said. "Nor will I submit my independent judgment to the dictates of a caucus." Several other insurgents have indicated they will not attend the caucus.

PRINCE OF WALES ASSUMES ROLE OF 'DIRT FARMER'

Melton Mowbray, England, February 9.—(United News).—The Prince of Wales, in the role of a dirt farmer, told the National Farmers' union meeting here Wednesday night that knowledge of chemistry, botany and mechanical engineering was a necessary part of the modern farmer's equipment.

Speaking at a dinner given by the union the prince announced that he had just acquired a new farm, in addition to the ones he already owns. He said he was studying the business viewpoint, which he regarded as essential for successful farming.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. ## Miss Tennent Weds Mr. Ellis At Church Ceremony in Augusta

Augusta, Ga., February 9.—Marked by brilliance and elegance in every detail was the marriage at 9 o'clock this evening of Miss Susan Frances Tennent and William Douglas Ellis III, of Atlanta, solemnized at Greene Street Presbyterian church in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends that filled the stately edifice, Dr. M. M. MacFarrin, pastor, officiating.

The interior of the church, which lends itself so beautifully to decoration with its attractive embellishments, had been artistically developed in a color motif of green and white. The white-carpeted aisles were outlined with a tall white cathedral candle attached to each pew end, the candles decorated with a huge bow of white tulle and twined with asparagus fern. The pews reserved for the family and reception guests were marked with huge bows of white satin and tulle and bouquets of Easter lilies. The altar decorations consisted of myriads of fragrant Easter lilies, slender palms and many tiers of seven-burner candles, all combined in pyramidal style with most charming effectiveness. The centerpiece of the pyramid thus formed was a 20-foot three-burner candle. Garlands of smilax draped the archway over the choir loft and the choir chancel and flanking the altar on either side was a tall floor vase of Easter lilies.

While the wedding guests were assembling, a pre-nuptial musical program was rendered by Mrs. James H. Jackson at the organ and Arthur W. Knowlton, of Boston, with violin, the selections being Beethoven's "Minuet in G," "The Cinquintain" by Gabriel Marie, "Blossom Time," waltz from "Faust," and Boccherini's "Minuet." As the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was rendered the bridal party entered, and during the impressive double ring ceremony "At Darning" was softly played.

Bridal Party.
The ushers, Robb Church Oertel and Jake Lowery, were followed by the groomsmen, Canon J. Callaway, of LaGrange; Dr. William C. Warren, of Vassar; Wooley, William A. Parker, Edward Van Winkle, of Atlanta, and Sam McDaniel, of LaGrange. The bridesmaids included Misses Martha Alexander, Martha Fortson, Dorothy Merry, Program Williams, Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Jr., and Mrs. Ewell Gay, of Atlanta, sister of the groom. Their exquisite costumes were of white tulle, fashioned with light-fitting bodices and bouffant skirts, with overskirts of tulle falling in petal effect over the tulle skirts. The first two bridesmaids carried a bouquet of yellow daisies, mimosa and pernet roses, with beaded shower of yellow snapdragons; the second wore blue forget-me-nots, blue delphinium, blue violets, beaded with blue hydrangea; the third two, pink claudia roses, pink snapdragons, pink hydrangea with beaded shower of pink sweet peas.

The maids of honor, Miss Mary Belle Walker and Miss Harriet Clifford Alexander, wore white sleeveless dresses of tulle, with overskirts of tulle applied with tulle, the armholes and low neck outlined with silver thread. They carried bouquets of light, single lavender violets, with beaded shower of lavender sweet peas.

Beautiful Bride.
The groom entered from the vestry with his best men, his brothers, Mr. Lamar Ellis and Mr. Rutherford Ellis, meeting at the altar the bride, who entered with her father, Mr. Henry Calhoun Tennent. The bride was radiantly lovely in her wedding robes of white satin, and in her thoroughly artistic features was of indescribable charm. The exquisite gown, fashioned with short waist, was elaborately embroidered with pearls and brilliants, the line at which the skirt was attached to the waist being formed of pendant moonstones, the skirt formed of four panels, and trimmed with deep crystal bead fringe. From her shoulders fell the regal court train of rich brocade satin and Persian lace, which had been used by her mother, and sister, Mrs. William Gordon Neville, of Brazil, at their wedding. The veil was of Brussels lace, attached to a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms. The Parisian allures of satin were embroidered with blue threads and the heels and straps met with brilliants. Her bridal bouquet was a superb creation of valley lilies, showered with orchards, and she carried her mother's wedding handkerchief of sheer Brussels lace.

The bride's gift to her attendants was her photo in wedding dress, in silver frame. That of the groom, a his men was a cigarette holder and leather case engraved with name.

Country Club Reception.
After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Country club, to which several hundred guests were invited, the club having been transformed into a scene of brilliance and beauty with its myriads of stately palms and lights, its profusion of flowers in pastel shades. The bride and groom received their guests in a magnificently appointed alcove between two tall floor baskets containing pink gladioli and daffodils. The mantel in the dining room was banked with red and white flowers—pink sweet peas, pink and red carnations, and gladioli. Streamers of green, blue and pink tulle were artistically interwoven, and the whole was centered with a large butterfly formed of pink tulle and brilliants. The bride's table, at which were seated the bride party, and the following guests, Mrs. William Parker, Miss Catherine Candler, of Atlanta, Mrs. Sam McDaniel, of LaGrange and Mrs. John M. Slaton, Jr., of Atlanta, was uniquely beautiful. Gracing one end of the table was a miniature church, electrically lighted. A minister awaited the approach of the bride couple, who neared the church in a little coach, studded with jewels and drawn by six white horses, with gold accoutrements. A horseman rode at the head and on the rear were two footmen, the little bride and groom seated within. An interesting fact in connection with the little figures were dolls in the families of the bride and groom. The table formed the setting of the churchyard which was indeed a scene of beauty, green grass forming the lawn, with many well-defined walks and flowers blooming in profusion in beds that were perfectly laid out. Around the entire yard was a tiny green fence, outside of which the covers for the guests were laid, marked with place cards—representing old-fashioned girls, in various-toned gowns, which were imported novelties, each containing a tiny bag of rice with which the young couple were afterward showered. The bride's cake, a masterpiece of culinary art, iced with varicolored sweet peas, graced the other end of the table, the adornments of which were further enhanced by the glow of the unshaded tapers in crystal candlesticks.

Beautiful Costume.
Conspicuous among the beautifully gowned women present were Mrs. William D. Ellis, Jr., mother of the groom, who wore a gown of black velvet with corsage of orchids. Mrs. Henry Calhoun Tennent, mother of the bride, wore a Parisian gown of orchid brocade crepe with over-dress of sequins and silver beads. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids. Miss Mary Wingfield, aunt of the bride, wore a gown of gray velvet with touches of turquoise blue satin and vest of silver, finished with a handsome clasp of brilliants. Miss Eleanor Wingfield, another aunt of the bride, wore a costume of lavender chiffon embroidered with velvet in purple tones and trimmed in steel beads. Mrs. Nisbet Wingfield, a gown of black georgette and silver with corsage of valley lilies and roses. Mrs. Esbridge Cabell, of Virginia and South Carolina, a costume of silver lace with trimming of brilliants. Miss Mildred Rutherford was handsomely in black lace and brilliants with corsage of rosebuds. Mrs. Rutherford Lipscomb, of Atlanta wore black chiffon velvet, crystal embroidered. Mrs. Edward Bishop, of Atlanta, aunt of the groom, wore black lace with touches of silver with corsage of orchids. Mrs. Joel Hurt Jr., of Atlanta, wore Nile-green crepe, with corsage of orchids.

Traveling Costume.
The bride donned a smart traveling costume which was an imported two-piece model. The blouse was of Chinese red crepe, embroidered in green, blue, and red.

Miss Stanley and Mr. Waggoner Wed at Lovely Home Ceremony

Marked by beautiful simplicity and dignity was the marriage of Miss Martha Stanley and Thomas Reuben Waggoner, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawrence Stanley, in the Pershing Point apartments. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. L. Duren, pastor of the St. Mark Methodist church, in the presence of relatives and close friends. Several appropriate musical numbers were rendered by an orchestra prior to the marriage service, which also played softly during the performing of the ceremony.

Lovely decorations prevailed throughout the reception rooms and in the living room, where the ceremony took place, a color motif of green and white was effectively carried out. The bride party stood before a background of palms, ferns and urns of Easter lilies. At intervals were candles of candelabra holding slender white burning tapers. The wide doorways and spacious windows were garlanded with poppies of smilax, white clusters of Easter lilies adorned the side walls. Beautiful floral baskets filled with pink roses, blue sweetpeas and lavender and white lilies graced the mantels, bookcases and tables.

Beautiful Bride.
The beautiful young bride was given in marriage by her father, Walter Lawrence Stanley, and her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Charles Brock Hughes, who acted as matron-of-honor. The groom was attended by his brother, Albert Waggoner, of Duke university, North Carolina. The bride's gown was a beautiful model of white duchess satin, fashioned along period lines. The bodice was silver lace. Silver lace was introduced on the skirt down the front in cascade effect. This same lovely lace was revealed in underskirt fashion at the bottom of the graceful skirt which hung longer at the back. A bridal veil of filmy tulle formed the train with orange blossom buds trimming the entire veil at intervals. The veil was held to her soft golden hair in a Madonna cap effect with sprays of orange blossoms holding it in place at the back of the head. She carried a gorgeous bouquet of valley lilies and orchids showered with valley lilies.

Mrs. Hughes wore an attractive costume of peach-colored chiffon trimmed with a girle of silver ribbon. The skirt of the modish gown was fashioned entirely of petals of the chiffon, the edges of the petals picoté in silver. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and white valley lilies.

Reception Follows.
Following the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley entertained at a reception. During the evening, Mr. Waggoner and his bride left for a wedding trip to Florida. On their return, they will go to Macon, where they will reside. The bride's traveling costume was a striking model of beige crepe and she wore a top coat of tan kasha cloth with collar and cuffs of beige fur. Her hat was a small shape in tan felt, trimmed with a gold ornament.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lawrence Stanley, of this city, who are identified with the highest cultural and social circles in the south. Mrs. Stanley was, before her marriage, Miss Allison, of Virginia, whose family are among the prominent pioneers in that state. The bride's father is an outstanding figure in railroad circles, and one of the city's leading citizens. She is the sister of Mrs. Charles Brock Hughes, of Norfolk, Va., and Bolling Stanley. The lovely young bride is a graduate of Washington seminary, and, though she never made a formal debut, she has enjoyed wide popularity, and has been a popular member of the younger social contingent.

Mr. Waggoner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Waggoner, of Walkertown, N. C. Mrs. Waggoner was formerly Miss Barnwell, of South Carolina. Both the Waggoner and Barnwell families have been prominently identified with the development of the south and the upbuilding of the Carolinas. The groom is a graduate of the 1922 class at Duke university, of North Carolina, where he was a popular member of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity. Mr. Waggoner holds a responsible position with the Trust Company of Georgia, and is located at Macon.

James O. Boone rendered a group of Mr. Stanton's loveliest poems that have been set to music, including: "Keep On Hopin'", "Sweet Miss Mary", "Mighty Lak a Ro'", and "Just a Wearyin' for You". Dr. Henry Gaines Hansen read a group of Stanton poems, after which William Townsend Taylor sang "Jean" and "Morning."

The last poem written by the poet, "Going Home," which was published in Mr. Stanton's column in The Constitution on Christmas day, was read by Mrs. James Henry Parker, president of the New York chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Advise to Expectant Mothers.
"I ADVISE all expectant mothers to use Mother's Friend," writes Mrs. Wesley Miller, Hudson, Mich. "I have had nine children. With my first three I suffered for 34 hours. Beginning with the fourth I used Mother's Friend and was sick only 15 minutes. Since then I have had five and was only sick about 10 minutes with each."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been a positive blessing to thousands of expectant mothers for over three generations. Used daily, externally, it soothes the nerves and muscles as month follows month. Finally it makes childbirth a joy!

The mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most are those who did not use it with their first baby but through its use with the second, they were able to realize its almost unbelievable results.

Mother's Friend is sold by all druggists and is the only safe and reliable preparation for expectant mothers.

Different in 2 ways

You'll notice two things about Heinz Beans that are different:

- 1. The label says "Oven-Baked."
- 2. The beans taste oven-baked.

It is the slow, careful baking in the dry heat of real ovens that makes it possible to label Heinz Beans "Oven-Baked."

It is the slow, careful baking in the dry heat of real ovens that makes them tender, meaty, easy to digest and wonderfully good to eat.

Music Club Hears "Lady of Shalott," Charming Cantata

BY ROSEMARY STEVENSON.

Inevitably the honors of the annual presentation of the Atlanta Music club choral organization on Wednesday morning at the Woman's club auditorium fall to Miss Lulu Clark King, the directors, whose diligence, energy and devotion were reflected in the splendidly sung cantata, "The Lady of Shalott," although a personal artistic success was accorded Miss Lydia Owen Wheeler for the fine characterization she gave to the solo parts of the presentation.

In her reading of Tennyson's poem for which Randall wrote the cantata, Mrs. Merrill Hutchinson, who gave the spoken interpretation, immediately carried her audience into the allegorical beauty of the symbolic story of Elaine, the lily maid of Astolat, on whom a curse would fall should her glance stray downward below the turrets of her castle.

The chorus repeated the story in fine descriptive melody with well attained dramatic moments, although at times the harmony was somewhat thin. The beauty of Miss Wheeler, however, and her enchanting lyric soprano voice in the solo parts immeasurably increased the effectiveness of the rendition.

Mrs. Thad Morrison, at the piano, showed herself not only an artist at accompaniment, but in the brief solo interludes effectively created the tempo and the moods of the changing themes.

Following the cantata, Mrs. Charles Dowman, as guest artist, played two piano numbers from Liszt, "Study in D Flat" and "Gondoliers" from "Venetian Nuptials," which won an appreciative applause from her hearers.

Dvorak's large from the "New World Symphony" is a melody that is as homely, plaintive and heart stirring as "Old Black Joe," and with it Miss King concluded the choral singing with resonant chords that reached the fullest harmony and won cordially enthusiastic response from the audience.

Of this sum $85,113.19 was for the year's actual cash needs. # Orders for Schumann-Heink Seats by Mail Reported Heavy

Mail orders for seats for the Schumann-Heink concert at the auditorium next Wednesday night are pouring into the offices of the Atlanta Symphony association, under whose auspices the famous contralto comes, from all parts of this state and surrounding commonwealths, it was stated Wednesday.

It is already evident that a capacity audience is going to fill the auditorium when the singer, who has thrilled three generations during her 50 years upon the operatic and concert stage, makes her farewell appearance in Atlanta.

While the local box office does not open before Saturday, reservations may be made through the mail by addressing Mrs. George Walker, care of the Georgia Terrace, Mrs. Walker is secretary of the Atlanta Symphony association. Checks or money orders should be enclosed with seat applications, prices ranging from 50 cents in the gallery to $2 for the best orchestra seats.

Colorful Figure.
Madame Schumann-Heink is the most colorful figure in musical circles of the past half-century. Singing, with no diminution of the beauty of her voice for 50 years, through the years of girlhood, young womanhood, motherhood, grandmotherhood and even great-grandmotherhood, she stands unique among the vocalists of all time. This season she is one of the outstanding contralto stars of the Metropolitan Opera company, making her concert engagements between appearances in opera.

During the world war she had four sons in the conflict—two on the allied side and two on the German. But she had years before become a naturalized American citizen and no public figure surpassed her in loyalty during the conflict. She gave without stint of her talent to entertain the soldiers in the camps and as soon as the wounded and disabled began coming back, devoted her chief energies to alleviation of their sufferings. So constantly and effectively did she work for the wounded that she has been given the title of "Mother of the D. A. V." by that organization.

Here 25 Years Ago.
It will be 25 years since her debut before an Atlanta audience when she once again bows from the auditorium stage on Wednesday and in the audience which greets her will be grandparents who remember her of the long ago, parents who remember the thrill she gave them when they were young, not so long ago, and the schoolboys and girls of today, snatching at their only opportunity to hear Schumann-Heink, "the unconquerable marvel of three generations."

This is her last tour. This spring she returns to her home in California to teach singers of the future the mystery of her perpetual and glorious art.

Mrs. Wilson is seeking the custody of the children, Harry Leon, Jr., 13, and Helen, 12, temporary alimony of $300 a month and the appointment of a receiver pending a community property settlement.

She charges that her husband concealed community assets when he signed an agreement for a property settlement at the time of their separation a year ago. She accepted $50,000 as her share on her husband's representation that the community property was worth $100,000.

In seeking a new property settlement Mrs. Wilson says Wilson's Monterey county estate alone is worth $100,000 and that her husband has an income of $100,000 a year from his profession in addition to contracts for royalties from plays and novels valued at $100,000, besides owning stocks and bonds worth $30,000.

Mrs. Wilson declares that her husband is now in Oregon and is about to dispose of his properties.

The Wilsons were married in San Francisco, January 13, 1912, and separated February 1, 1926.

AMERICAN FLIERS IN DIAZ ARMY MAY LOSE CITIZENSHIP

Washington, February 9.—The United States will inform the American aviators who reported bombing Nicaraguan towns with the Diaz army, that this government disapproves of Americans serving with foreign troops, it was learned at the state department today.

An investigation will be made to determine whether Majors Lee Mason and William Brooks, Americans reported to be serving in the Diaz army, took the oath of allegiance to Nicaragua. If the reports are confirmed their citizenship will be canceled under the American expatriation law, it was said.

The United States can do nothing but withdraw its protection of them as Americans and express disapproval of their actions if they have not taken a foreign oath.

It is understood Brooks and Mason have been residents of New Orleans.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so coughs and colds are easily and really cured.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaricol which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "Pinex" and give him directions. Guaranteed to give you absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

THE GUMPS—THE HOUSE OF SERVICE

Starring Dulcie Jayne

By VIRGINIA TRACY.

SYNOPSIS.
Cornelia Marsh, employed in the scenario department of Hertog's motion picture studio at Fort Lee, learns with sorrow that Henry Horner, the head of the department, has been fired by Lyman Hertog, son of the owner of the studio. Every one knows that Lyman is jealous of Henry because he is in love with Dulcie Jayne, the star of the studio, but Dulcie seems to prefer her director, Daniel K. Leland. Mr. Hertog suggests to Lyman that they feature Leland as an actor as well as a director. Lyman quarrels violently with his father and the latter has a stroke of apoplexy.

INSTALLMENT XVI.
JOHNNY-ON-THE-SPOT.

Mr. Horner started to walk out. Lyman leaned across his path. "You're going. But I'm staying. And things have kind of changed. Henry, kind of changed! I can buy something better than trick fans, now. I got the right of way, now. And anything else I want I can get, I guess. I'll be Johnny-on-the-Spot, you see. And you won't. Get me, Henry?"

His shortish, thick-set figure still leaned in front of Mr. Horner, his outthrust face moving from side to side, as if tempting Mr. Horner to slap it.

"She showed you how much use she had for your presents! Her kisses come too high for you all right!" Suddenly, in a little puff of elation and rage there seemed to blow out of Lyman the words, "No more fans, you damned freckle!"

Mr. Horner's muscles did not tighten, but his childish lips lengthened and thinned. Unfortunately, as he stood looking at Lyman with a kind of blank intensity, his free hand absently, but neatly, folded up the subscription list. "Gimme that!" shouted Lyman and struck Mr. Horner with it.

So that the blow might reach Mr. Horner's face, Lyman had sprung true to his slogan, above and beyond his normal reach, and his jump landed him on Mr. Horner's chest which, for the fraction of a second, he seemed trying to bite; his dummy, expensive, clad feet kicked viciously at Mr. Horner's long legs. Then he was still; held in a vise.

One of Mr. Horner's long, slim legs had clutched round both Lyman's; one of his large, slim hands held both Lyman's sturdy wrists. His other arm tightly encircled Lyman, supporting him in that attitude, quite a way up his own person, to which Lyman had ascended. Thus held aloft, Lyman for a moment thought seriously of spitting, but abandoned the project, frightened by his paralysis within that grip of steel. The book with which he had struck Mr. Horner fell to the ground.

"You oughtn't to get this way, Lyman," said Mr. Horner, pacifically. "There must be nearly five inches between us. Besides, though I guess people don't realize it much, I do—really—know how to fight. I admire you're asking for it, but it wouldn't be decent, hardly." Looking up to explain, he added, as though he had at last reached a rational ground of complaint, "I don't exactly know what to do with you, either."

Lyman, offering no solution, demanded to be set down.

"Well, I guess I'll have to. It's only natural I should feel I ought to stand you on your head, out in the water cooler. But that'd be a little bit too showy with your father not here." Carrying Lyman to his father's doorway, said Mr. Horner, reassuringly, "The way you want to feel is, you only just need a little instruction."

He slid Lyman to his feet on the further side of the door and shut it. His eye, seeking to avoid the scenario department, passed over it toward the hall. Then a quick look of pain worried his face. "Leland!" he called.

"Dan! Wait!"

For the great Daniel K. was turning past the conjunction of corridors toward Mr. Horner's own door. At Mr. Horner's call he shifted his course toward the scenario department, still under convoy of a palpitating and triumphant little blue flag that flew a golden banner. He slanted an expressive thumb toward the inner office. "Had a phone Hertog wants to see us both for the final arrangements on 'Passion Pride'."

"He means himself," said Henry Horner, somewhat obscurely. "Don't go in yet." He swallowed. "I've made Lyman extra sore. He had me where I couldn't help it. I couldn't help it."

Find them? Sure you can. They are all alike, you say! Whoa! Not so fast. They are not all clothed the same. Many young ladies look alike and all those on this page look like each other, but the "TWINS" are dressed exactly the same, like all real twins. Now look again. How about the hats? Trimming is different, isn't it? That's where the fun in finding the Twins comes in.

It takes real care and cleverness to point out the differences and find the two real Twins because two and only two are identically the same.

Find the Twins; $7,000 in cash prizes divided into 50 prizes is offered

Now then, upon closer examination you will find a difference in their wearing apparel. Have they all earrings or necklaces? How about their coats and hats? Are they trimmed the same? Some have bands on the brim and crowns, others have not. Maybe the difference is just the buttonhole in the lapel of the coat.

Just look closely—make sure that you have found the Twins, then send in your answer. Somebody who finds the right Twins is going to win a big cash prize. Make that somebody be YOU!

Here's a chance to sneak up on old man Hard Luck, hand him a real wallop and walk off with a fortune in prizes.

AT THE THEATERS

Erlanger Theater.

General Lew Wallace was one of the outstanding figures of his period. As a soldier he served in the Mexican war, and was between the states. He practiced law in Indiana, and was a member of the legislature of that state; he was governor of the territory of New Mexico for four years, and was later appointed minister to Turkey, where, beside attending to his official duties, he took a prominent part in the founding and development of educational institutions.

After he returned to his home in Crawfordsville, Ind., he erected, at a short distance from his home, an octagonal building of brick, which he used as a retreat and study, and which is now open to the public as a shrine.

The book shelves in General Wallace's sanctum contain the reference books and classics that one would naturally find in the library of a man of cultivation, and also many rare volumes dealing with Oriental and Mexican history and archeology. Among the pictures on the walls is a striking portrait of Abdul Hamid, sultan of Turkey at the time that General Wallace was minister to that country. The visitor is surprised to learn that the portrait was painted by General Wallace himself. On a table nearby is a beautifully made violin case of wood, which was fashioned by the general's own hand, and the instrument within was played upon, with no little skill, by the general himself.

These additional artistic accomplishments of General Wallace are surprising to the visitor, since no mention is made of them in the biographies of the man. He was, indeed, a genius in many lines, but his enduring fame will rest upon his authorship of "Ben Hur."

Coming to Erlanger.

The Judge's Husband—William Hodge's appearance at the Erlanger theater for an engagement of three nights, with a matinee Wednesday, beginning Monday, February 14, in his latest comedy, "The Judge's Husband," is a theatrical event fraught with genuine interest for every class of theatergoer, for Mr. Hodge's offerings, it is said, are always an assurance of a delightful evening in the theater. The star comes here following successful appearances in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and New York. Mr. Hodge will have in his support the entire New York cast, including Gladys Hanson in the role of the woman judge.

The Rialto.

"Broken Hearts of Hollywood." In gathering data from which to write their story, "Broken Hearts of Hollywood," at the Rialto theater, Raymond Schrock and Edward Clark sought authentic information of incidents involved in many "broken hearts of Hollywood." Much of this information was gathered from the various welfare organizations whose duties it is to lend aid and assistance to those who have become entangled in the snares and pitfalls.

Loew's Grand.

Vaudeville and Pictures—The combination bill, which includes Irene Franklin as head of the vaudeville program, and "The Scarlet Letter" as the feature picture, is pleasing huge crowds at Loew's Grand theater this week. Miss Franklin is a real top notcher in the vaudeville field, being one of the highest salaried artists in America. She brings all her latest and best songs for her Atlanta engagement. The vaudeville program, "The Scarlet Letter," has been screened in one of the greatest pictures of all time, with Lillian Gish in the leading role. Other acts on the vaudeville bill are Stella Tracy and Earl Elwood, musical comedy stars; Earl and Bell, in a novelty musical skit; William Ebs, in a ventriloquist act; and Leah LaQuintina in her dancing serial feat.

Tenth Street Theater.

"Men of Steel," a thrilling picture with the story principally laid in a steel mill, is playing today and tomorrow at the Tenth Street theater. Milton Sills has made many pictures, but certainly none that were more popular or better than "Men of Steel."

The picture gives Sills an opportunity to display his forceful personality in the setting of a steel mill, and the result is highly satisfactory. The scenes in the mill were taken in Birmingham, where the Sills company went on location for several weeks.

West End Theater.

"The Sea Beast," John Barrymore's masterly tale of the sea is being shown today and tomorrow at the West End theater. Picked last week as one of the ten best pictures of 1926, an unusual significance is attached to the showing of the famous whaling tale. The picture is an adaptation of the Herman Melville best seller, "Moby Dick." Moby Dick is a huge white whale around which the destinies of Ahab (John Barrymore) and his family are woven. Dolores Costello proves a delightful heroine, and the remainder of the cast must have drawn inspiration from Barrymore.

Palace Theater.

"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," famous for one reason, because it was the first picture in which the late Rudolph Valentino was seen in a principal role, is being shown at the Palace theater for showings today and tomorrow. On its premiere, the picture scored a tremendous hit, and after the death it was brought back to the screen and is duplicating its former success. Alice Terry is seen opposite Valentino.

Fairfax Theater.

"Rin-Tin-Tin," wonder dog of the screen, is featured today and tomorrow at the Fairfax theater in East Point in one of his greatest thrillers, "Below the Line." Possessing almost human intelligence, Rin-Tin-Tin has gradually built up for himself an array of fans that equal any claimed by any of the human stars of the silver screen. "Below the Line" is the typically good Rin-Tin-Tin picture with plenty of Rin-Tin-Tin. An excellent human cast supports Rin-Tin-Tin in "Below the Line."

Keith's Georgia.

Vaudeville and Pictures—The George McKay vaudeville unit, embracing five of the best Keith-Albee features seen during the season, is holding forth in one of his greatest thrillers, "Below the Line." Possessing almost human intelligence, Rin-Tin-Tin has gradually built up for himself an array of fans that equal any claimed by any of the human stars of the silver screen. "Below the Line" is the typically good Rin-Tin-Tin picture with plenty of Rin-Tin-Tin. An excellent human cast supports Rin-Tin-Tin in "Below the Line."

Metropolitan.

The Silent Lover—Milton Sills, popular screen star, has scored another distinct hit in "The Silent Lover," which is playing the Metropolitan theater this week to large crowds. The picture is a thrilling story of a diplomat who almost ruins himself in Paris and then finds himself again in the grueling service of the French foreign legion, the hero of "The Sea Hawk" and "Men of Steel," who is another splendid characterization.

Howard Theater.

Hotel Imperial—When you attend the showing of "Hotel Imperial," at the Howard theater this week, you will see a picture laid again in Paris and then finds himself again in the grueling service of the French foreign legion, the hero of "The Sea Hawk" and "Men of Steel," who is another splendid characterization.

Tudor Theater.

"The Silent Rider," Hoot Gibson, peer of western stars, rides again in his latest western thriller, "The Silent Rider," starting today at the Tudor.

The Forsyth.

White Collars—John Warner and Ellis Baker are showing the way in one of the most delightful plays of the season at the Forsyth. The play is from the pen of Miss Baker's mother, Edith Ellis, and the role her charming young daughter plays was created especially for her. Warner has played his role in several big cities where the play was presented previous to opening here.

The Day in Finance

By R. L. BARNUM

New York, February 9.—Panic conditions existed today in the market for low priced rails when Wheeling and Lake Erie stock sold yesterday at 130-14 and its climb from below 30, open at 105 and dropped to 60-64 around noon causing a flood of selling orders in the low priced rails that have recently been advancing wildly causing breakings of a point on more than sales. Prices in Wheeling and Lake Erie, Western Maryland, Wabash, New Haven, Great Western, Alton and other low priced rails were in a state of confusion and were being sold at prices recently advanced. Evidence in the collapse of W. and L. E. that the corner in that stock had been broken started the selling in low priced rails with specialists in these stocks refusing to accept stop-loss orders except at the risk of the trader.

Much talk was heard of private settlements having taken place with traders who remained short of W. and L. E. despite the corner. Rumors were also heard that the stock exchange had succeeded in efforts to have W. and L. E. preferred accepted as a good delivery for the common stock until common stock is available for the conversion of the preferred into the common. Despite these widely circulated rumors, however, there are good reasons for believing that the collapse in W. and L. E. that brought about the violent decline in the so-called low priced rails, resulted merely from a collapse in the corner in Wheeling and Lake Erie from its own weight.

Sharp Decline Noted. Some important declines occurred in seasonal dividend paying rails and in good industrial stocks but the comparative strength displayed by such stocks and industries during the low priced rails was remarkable. This was due to the fact that in all of the recent excitement in low priced rails the recent dividend paying railroad stocks and industries were not touched.

Wheeling & Lake Erie around the close of the first hour suddenly dropped from its opening price of 105 to 60-64 and then continued to fall. The time being, nevertheless, the stock market end of the Northern Pacific corner attracted the most attention. This part of the Northern Pacific story was soon overshadowed first by the formation of the Northern Securities company which for all time was to be a safe lodge corner of Northern Pacific. Great Northern and Burlington, next by the government's suit which successfully broke up the Northern Securities company.

Future Is Uncertain. It is now reasonably plain that the recent decline in W. and L. E. by four eastern trunk lines was the result of bad feeling in the eastern trunk line situation with New York Central and Pennsylvania in the lead. The bulk of the fluctuations in the market was due to the fact that the corner in W. and L. E. was broken and the market was left in a state of confusion.

Wild Rumors Prevail. When the wild rumors in low priced rails started after Wheeling & Lake Erie began to climb as a result of urgent buying on the part of those who had been short, the market was in a state of confusion. However, for the past few days rumors of all sorts have been widely circulated. New Haven for forward as the story nears being told. Only a limited number of seats may be obtained and reservations should be made at once.

Midnight Frolic. (Friday Night.) "Shufflin' Sam from Alabama," the big colored musical comedy hit will be seen in its 1927 book and cast Friday night at the Tudor theater at 11 o'clock. "Shufflin' Sam" has proven the sensation of all colored attractions. Never in the history of colored theatricals has a production of this kind played to such phenomenal business day in and day out as "Shufflin' Sam," and it is right to expect a big success. The cast of colored attractions as far as box office success is concerned.

The company numbers 35 people and include Victor Scott, Richard Perry, Joe Williams, Peg Esch, Herbert Whitfield, Susie Sutton, Sidney Rink and his famous mule, "Gunpowder."

Tickets are on sale at the theater and at Chess' place at Five Points at the usual popular prices.

DR. CHARLES WALCOTT DIES IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., February 9.—Dr. Charles D. Walcott, international executive head at the Smithsonian institute since 1907, died at his home here today. He directed Theodore Roosevelt's famous African expedition in 1906.

Dr. Walcott had a premonition of his death when taken ill in his office a week ago. At that time he resigned the regular conference of the institute scheduled for Thursday to be held even if he should die. It will be held tomorrow in accordance with his dying request.

The scientist was 77 years of age, having been born in Oneida county, New York, March 31, 1850.

Dr. Walcott was probably the best authority on older geological formations and discovered the largest deposits of middle Cambrian fossils in the world in British Columbia.

Millionaire Group Guests at Dinner Given Coolidges

Washington, February 9.—The presence of a large group of millionaires at a dinner given for President and Mrs. Coolidge last night by Secretary of Interior Work was purely social and had no political significance, it was said here today.

Secretary Work said that the guests, who probably represented enough wealth to buy up the whole world was debt, "were just friends of mine."

In the list were Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Judge Gary, Charles M. Schwab, George Eastman, the camera manufacturer, Harvey S. Firestone, the rubber magnate, and other business, industrial and railroad magnates.

Among those who sent regrets were Roy W. Howard, the Standard Oil magnate, and Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher, and Will Hays, of the motion picture industry.

Wives were invited and the dinner itself was strictly social.

Panic Conditions Prevail in Rails as Wheeling & Lake Erie Collapse Starts Prices Crumbling.

By EARL J. JOHNSON

New York, February 9.—(United News.)—Crashing suddenly to a low of $65.75 after the most sensational Wall Street boom in 25 years, common stock of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad has returned to a semblance of normalcy and the financial world has turned to a consideration of the back-stage maneuvering which caused the flurry.

The most immediate result of the wild trading of the last few days—now that a temporary halt has been called—is the dashing of one man's dream after years of struggle for transportation supremacy and the triumph of four men who fought their way up from humble beginning to the Algebric pinnacle of success.

Millions Involved. Although the boom in Wheeling stock involved millions of dollars, it was more than a great financial coup. It marked the end of at least one round in a battle of personalities and high finance, with the "school-masters" of American transportation, shaggy-headed L. F. Lore, the loser.

The victors, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, of the Nickel Plate; Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio; and Patrick Crowley, of the New York Central, started their careers as newsboys, trackwalkers and firemen. It is only a coincidence, perhaps, that the end of the road was over the college-trained Lore, who was schooled for years in economics and high finance before he came into control of the Kansas City and Southern and the Delaware and Hudson railroads.

Lore's Dream Crashes. The victors, O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, now control the Wheeling and the Western Maryland, and Lore, who was the driving force in the plan for another great eastern trunk line has collapsed. But Lore is experienced in the ways of big business and Wall Street is not saying that this is the end. His bulky shoulders may yet emerge above the combined New England shrewdness, the middle western daring and the Irish audacity of his antagonists.

When the stock exchange closed Wednesday after a session of violent fluctuations in all rail stocks, Wheeling was quoted at $90 a share, $40 below the high to which it was driven the day before by the technical corner which the control fight had created. Later stock market authorities announced that the premium on borrowed stock, which had reached the unprecedented high of 7 per cent had been reduced to 1 per cent or $100 a day, and other rail shares.

Although the fluctuations in Wheeling and other rails covered a wide range, wizards of the market said they saw nothing alarming in the spectacle of the stock exchange. The fight was now over, at least temporarily.

Van Sweringen Wary. The entire affair, they said, smacked more of the financial wizardry of the Van Sweringen brothers than of manipulations by either "Pat" Crowley or "Dan" Willard.

Before he became head of the Baltimore and Ohio Willard drove $2.5 million of stock in the company and staked locomotives and punched railroad bonds for cash. He was a railroad operator but knew little about manipulation. He could not have engineered the Wall Street coup.

Neither could Crowley, the man who started the fight by offering a $5 a month and became president of the New York Central at the age of 30. Crowley was a railroad operator but knew little about manipulation. He could not have engineered the Wall Street coup.

Neither could Crowley, the man who started the fight by offering a $5 a month and became president of the New York Central at the age of 30. Crowley was a railroad operator but knew little about manipulation. He could not have engineered the Wall Street coup.

LEGAL INVESTMENTS. The laws of quite a number of states specify in great detail the kinds of securities in which savings bank and trust funds may be invested. Some of the more important statutory provisions are known as "legal" investments. The object of these statutory restrictions is, ostensibly, to insure a high grade of security for the investments of savings banks and trustees every element of speculation and risk possible.

It would seem at first thought, in view of the provisions of the various laws, that legal investments as a class offer a very high degree of safety. That is perfectly true of these investments as a class, but it is like wise true that the mere fact that a particular bond is a legal investment for savings banks and trust funds is not an all-sufficient recommendation. The laws of the various states governing investments by savings banks and trustees lack uniformity. The same security may be a legal investment in one state and not in another. Again, because the provisions of these laws must be of necessity general rather than specific, these legal classifications sometimes admit bonds of only a few years maturity and exclude bonds of the highest grade. Further, the fact that a security is a legal investment today does not give it a guarantee of future investment value. It is not unusual to find bonds classed as legal investments selling on a high yield basis, indicating plainly that, in the judgment of investors, they were regarded as bonds of the highest class.

Investors should be warned against the mistake of relying implicitly on the fact that some law approves a bond as legal for savings banks and trust funds. Investment values are too varied and too dependent upon widely different relationships to be determined by arbitrary laws. There are many bonds not qualified as "legal" that are superior to a number of investments that conform to statutory provisions. This is just added proof for a careful analysis of a particular security in the determination of its value as a safety zone for dollars.

PLANTER SLAYS NEGRO SETTING BARN AFIRE

Elkton, Ky., February 9.—(AP.)—Milton Sanford, who hid in his barn at 2 a. m. February 1, and shot and killed Charley Garrott, negro, who had come to set fire to the barn, was found today by a posse of law enforcement officers. Sanford was taken to the county jail and is being held for trial.

Garrott had threatened to burn the barn, which contained 15 mules, 20 cows, 40 hogs and a large quantity of corn, hay and straw. He was in the act of setting the fire when Sanford shot him with a single-barreled shotgun.

CRASH KILLS THREE

Auto Accident Here Snuffs Out Lives of Chicken Trio.

Three were instantly killed in an automobile accident in Atlanta Wednesday. All three were chickens.

The feathered victims of the crash, each a different breed, were occupants of a machine driven by J. B. Turner, of Cummings, Ga. At Piedmont and Edgewood avenues, a car said to have borne license number 78,039, collided with Turner's car and made a hurried exit, Turner reported to police. He seeks reparation for the loss of his fowls—the machine was little damaged.

Miss Jessie Tidwell, of 44 Kroge street, received minor bruises Wednesday morning when an automobile operated by C. T. Yates, of 315 Moreland avenue, skidded while being brought to a sudden stop and slid into the young woman, Patrolman F. C. Foster reported. Little the worse for the accident, Miss Tidwell was taken to her home, the report stated.

New York, February 9.—(P)—A return of strength to high grade investment securities today gave the bond market a firm undertone. At the same time there was considerable trading in issues of low price and some speculative activity was in evidence. Mortgages of a number of the so-called "merger rails" which have been advancing in sympathy with the strength of the stock market, continued to move forward this morning but later lost their gains, some of them closing with material losses. St. Paul convertible 5s and Erie convertible 4s, "D," were particularly susceptible to this softening.

Strengthened by news that the company will be merged with the Remington Typewriter company, Rand Karalex 5s carrying stock warrants jumped 5 points to 165, a new record high, and furnished the feature of the industrial division. Other corporation liens were generally steady. Warner Sugar first 7s also touched a new peak at 106, but subsequently dropped back, holding a net gain of more than a point. Public utilities were steady.

Mixed price movements were present in the foreign group. German, Belgian and French governmental issues received good support, while many of the foreign industrial liens sustained further fractional concessions.

Federal government bonds were in good demand, particularly in the Liberty division. The treasury 334s sold at 104 for the first time.

FORD HOLDS STAGE MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

Washington, February 9.—(United Press.)—Henry Ford held the center of interest in three different places in Washington today—in person at the white house, in debates at the senate and in hearings before the board of tax appeals.

En route to help Thomas A. Edison celebrate his eightieth birthday at East Orange, N. J., the automobile manufacturer stopped at the white house to pay his respects to President Coolidge. He later called upon his former associate, Senator James Couzens, Michigan, republican.

Ford chatted a few minutes after leaving the white house. He said: "Prohibition is a good thing, a boon in the world to the workingman."

"Industrial conditions throughout the country are excellent."

"And President Coolidge impressed me as being in splendid health."

Ford Jokes Valuable.

There was no motive in his white house visit except to "pay the do" to the president, Ford declared.

"I didn't think the president would mind having me call as I had nothing to urge nor any favors to ask," he remarked and added:

Ford stated that he had no intention of attending any of the sessions of the board of tax appeals, where $300,000 is involved on the sale of Ford motor stock.

Ford, who predominated in 1913, proved a distinct asset to the Ford Motor company, Ford said today, of Blair & Co., New York investment bankers, told the board of tax appeals today.

This Ford advertising was not only unique but of great benefit to the Ford company, the banker said, revealing that he had included its benefits when he valued Ford stock in 1913 at $10,000 to $12,000 a share.

Ford's Personal Value.

L. N. also discussed the personal value of Henry Ford to the company and testified that without the guiding hand of the chief he could have hesitated to finance the company in 1913. The name of Ford was needed to give the public confidence, he said.

The market for Ford stock was high in 1913, Alexander Gregg, youthful chief counsel for the government, charged when he attacked Lindsay's valuation figures.

In 1913 I could have purchased 1,000 shares of Ford stock at $10,000 a share and sold it to small investors for $11,500 a share," Lindsay replied.

However, if Ford had suddenly died," he added, "the stock value would have dropped, but the company could have eventually recovered."

Injected Into Debate.

Henry Ford's name was injected into the debate on farm relief in the senate by Senator George J. Dyer, republican, in defending the right of farmers to organize for control of prices.

"Leaders of every industry meet every year and fix prices for the following years," he charged.

"Does that include the automobile industry?" Senator Couzens asked.

"I don't," Dyer replied.

"But I think it is a great crime when one man in any country can develop a fortune of $2,000,000,000. I don't care if it is Henry Ford or not."

However, Gooding admitted that farmers throughout the country had profited through Ford's mass production of automobiles.

THE NUMBERS OF THE SARACENS WERE INCREASING HOURLY, AND IT WAS APPARENT THAT A GREAT BATTLE COULD NOT BE LONG DELAYED. IN THIS CRISIS, THE COMMANDERS WERE AT A LOSS TO KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH THE WOMEN AND THEIR IMMENSE TRAIN OF BAGGAGE. FINALLY THE KING SENT THEM ON IN ADVANCE WITH A NUMBER OF HIS BEST TROOPS AS A GUARD. INSTRUCTING THEM TO ENCOMP ON A CERTAIN HILL, WHERE THEY WOULD BE SAFE. HAVING REACHED THE HILL, ELEANORA SAW A GREEN AND FERTILE VALLEY ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE HILL WHICH WAS MUCH PRETTIER AND MORE ROMANTIC THAN THE BARREN HILL TOP. SO SHE DECIDED THEY WOULD CAMP IN THE VALLEY. THE REMONSTRANCE OF THE OFFICERS WAS IN VAIN. THE RESULT WAS THAT THE ARABS SECURED POSSESSION OF THE HILL AND THUS SPLIT THAT PORTION OF THE ARMY GUARDING THE CAMP. A GREAT BATTLE FOLLOWED. THE FRENCH WERE TERRIBLY DEFEATED AND MANY THOUSANDS SLAIN. ALL THE PROVISIONS OF THE ARMY WERE SEIZED AND PLUNDERED, INCLUDING THE BAGGAGE OF THE LADIES. THE REMNANTS OF THE ARMY, TOGETHER WITH THE KING AND QUEEN AND THE LADIES, FINALLY ESCAPED TO ANTIOCH.

King Richard I.

ELEANORA AND THE OTHER LADIES SOON RECOVERED FROM THE TERRIBLE FRIGHT AND SHOCK OF THE BATTLE AND IMMEDIATELY BEGAN TO LIVE VERY GAY, PLEASING, SEEKING LIVES OF ANTOCH. PRINCE RICHARD WAS A VERY HANDSOME YOUTH, AND HIS ATTENTIONS TO ELEANORA, ALTHOUGH HIS NICE, SOON ROUSED THE KING'S INTENSE JEALOUSY. IN A GREAT RAGE LOUIS LEFT ANTIOCH FOR JERUSALEM, INSISTING THAT THE UNWILLING ELEANORA ACCOMPANY HIM. KING LOUIS HAD NOW HAD HIS FILL OF WOMEN IN WARFARE. HE DETERMINED THAT NONE OF THEM SHOULD ACCOMPANY HIM FURTHER ON THE CAMPAIGN. SO HE LEFT ELEANORA IN JERUSALEM, PRACTICALLY A PRISONER, AND WENT FORTH TO WAR.

By DR. ELLIOTT SHORING, NOTED HISTORIAN

LOUIS RETURNED TO JERUSALEM AND INQUIRED ABOUT HIS WIFE'S CONDUCT DURING HIS ABSENCE. HE LEARNED THE LITTLE THAT PLEASED HIM. THE FACTS HE DISCOVERED REGARDING HER INTIMACY WITH THE PRINCE OF THE COUNTRYSIDE DURING HIS ABSENCE MADE HIM MORE JEALOUS THAN EVER. A TERRIBLE SCENE FOLLOWED. LOUIS DENOUNCED HER AS A WICKED WOMAN AND DECLARED HE WOULD DIVORCE AND REPUDIATE HER. ELEANORA WAS FEARFUL BUT WILY.

CONFERENCE BEGINS ON TANGIER CONTROL

Paris, February 9.—(A.P.)—The thorny problem of the international zone of Tangier, which more than once has created difficult diplomatic situations, again was opened today with a meeting of French and Spanish delegates to consider Spain's demand that she alone be given jurisdiction over the city and the 200 miles of contiguous territory.

After being greeted by Foreign Minister Briand, the delegates went into session this evening at the Quai d'Orsay, where they will continue their work in general the Spanish demand. A preliminary conference will be held tomorrow between Maurice De Beaumont, political director of the foreign office, representing France, and Senor Aguirre Carcer, representing Spain. The Spanish delegates, however, will wait until Monday before presenting the formal memorandum containing their demands to the French delegation.

The Spanish plan of campaign is first to insist that other nations, including the signers of the Algeiras conference of 1906, of whom the United States is one, step out and leave the issue to France and Spain. When this demand is refused, as there is no doubt it will be, Spain will request that the administrator of the international zone, who now is a Frenchman, be replaced by a Spaniard. The Spanish delegates also will ask that mixed courts be suppressed and that they be replaced by Spanish courts, on which representatives of the different nations will be allowed to sit when their respective nationals are involved.

Another demand will be that the present representative of the sultan, who looks after the interests of the sultan, be replaced by a Spaniard, the khalfia of the Spanish zone instead of by the sultan, thus bringing him under Spanish influence and control.

BONNIE ROWE SLASHES WRISTS IN FLORIDA

Tampa, Fla., February 9.—(A.P.)—Slashing his wrists with a razor at a hotel here late last night, Bonnie Rowe, parachute jumper with an aerial show which has been touring Florida, sat at a table and began a letter to a woman he addressed as Alma and continued to write until he fell to the floor unconscious from loss of blood.

"Forty-five minutes and I shall face eternity," the letter said. "Here's hoping I keep my nerve in death as I have in life." The remainder of the letter was filled with protestations of love.

Physicians at a hospital where the man was taken said today he would probably recover. Hotel employees declared Rowe reached there early last night, sent a telegram and registered. He wrote the letter and then stopped before expiration will only be charged for the number of times the card is used.

Rowe's home is in Taylorsville, North Carolina.

FILIBUSTER BLOCKS RADIO CONTROL BILL

M'GARRAH NAMED RESERVE BANK HEAD

Washington, February 9.—The federal reserve board announced today appointment of Gates W. McGarragh, of New York, as class C director and chairman of the board of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, and federal reserve agent. In order to allow him time to sever his existing business connections and to attend the spring meeting of the general council of the reinsurance bank, of which he has been the American member under the arrangement set up by the so-called Dawes plan of 1924, the board has fixed May 1 as the date when the new official will actively assume the functions of the position to which he has been appointed by the board.

In connection with this appointment the federal reserve board gave out the following statement:

"There is no more responsible or important position in the federal reserve system than that of chairman and federal reserve agent at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The chairman of the board is, in a special sense, the guarantor to the federal reserve board and to the public of the good functioning of his bank. In his capacity as federal reserve agent he is the 'official representative of the federal reserve board' at his bank.

Qualifications High.

"The position calls for a combination of qualifications and qualities in the same individual not always easy to find. There are, however, in most American communities men who are outstanding figures in the banking world and in addition, enjoy the highest repute for integrity, character and public spirit.

"The federal reserve board feels, after a careful canvass extending over a period of two months, that it has been very fortunate in succeeding in bringing to the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York a man of Mr. McGarragh's qualifications. Mr. McGarragh's experience as a banker in New York extends over a period of some 40 years. At the time of the organization of the federal reserve system in 1914, Mr. McGarragh was president of one of the largest commercial banks in New York city, the Merchants and Metals National bank. He later became chairman of the board of that institution and when it was merged with the Chase National bank about a year ago, he became chairman of the executive committee of the merged institutions. As one of the country's outstanding commercial bankers his interests brought him into contact with every portion of the United States. Few bankers in New York or elsewhere have his intimate knowledge gained on the spot, of every section of the United States.

Held in High Regard.

"The high regard in which Mr. McGarragh is held by the banking community of the state of New York is evidenced by his election in 1925 to the membership banks of the New York federal reserve district to the position of class A director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. This position Mr. McGarragh held for a term of three years under the system of rotation observed by the banks of this district with respect to their banking representatives on the board of the New York bank.

"In 1924, under the arrangement set up by the Dawes plan for a general council for the reinsurance bank having foreign representatives on it, Mr. McGarragh was selected to be the American member. This position is in the nature of an international trusteeship of the highest character and in addition calls for the exercise of broadly based banking and financial judgment. His connection with this important European work has given Mr. McGarragh rare facilities for supplementing his experience as a banker in the United States with an intimate knowledge of economic and financial conditions in Europe and the workings of leading European banking and financial systems."

STAY OF EXECUTION GIVEN SIX CONVICTS

Joliet, Ill., February 9.—Six convicts who were to hang at dawn Friday for the murder of one man, have been given three weeks more to live by Judge Arthur Deselm, who granted the stay to allow their counsel to argue a motion for a new trial.

The attorneys made a frantic appeal to sympathizers in Joliet and Chicago and by Wednesday had collected $750 to pay for the expense of making the motion.

Attorneys for the state have been given until February 24 to show why a new trial should not be granted, and the condemned men are sentenced to hang for the murder of Assistant Warden Peter M. Klein, during a jail break last spring, are scheduled to die at dawn March 1.

If a new trial is not granted, it is intimated, the case may be taken to the state supreme court.

The stay in execution came while final preparations for the hanging were being made. Governor Len Small announced he would not exercise clemency in their cases, and the state parole commission had said it was no reason why the death sentence should be commuted.

The prisoners think lightly of their impending doom. While their lawyers were scurrying around in Joliet for a new trial, the convicts collected only $500 had been collected until Wednesday—they laughed and joked among themselves. When they were told a stay of execution had been granted, they merely shrugged their shoulders, refusing to comment.

Jacket Planned For Aged Parrot Now Nearly Bald

London, February 9.—(AP) Pete, London's oldest parrot, is becoming so bald his owner has decided to have little jackets made for him to take the place of the long lost feathers. Pete's owner can produce records which show he is known to have existed in 1801, but the length of time he was on earth prior to that is mere assumption.

Pete is owned by Colonel W. B. Ferris, of Philbeach Gardens, S. W., London, who has had the bird 55 years. The records show that Pete was captured by a British soldier in India 126 years ago after a battle between the English and forces of the rajah of Sataria, of which the parrot had been the tribal mascot.

Pete is the pet of the maharajah of Kolhapur, who in 1844 presented him to the Colonel Ferris, former governor of Alden.

The older Pete gets the more he talks. He eats most anything, particularly nuts, bananas and other indigestibles from which centenarians usually refrain.

Kansas Couples Must Save Money If Bill Passes

Topeka, Kan., February 9.—(AP)—Kansas lovers with a matrimonial inclination, will have to start saving their pennies if the state legislature and Governor Paulen approve the marriage license bill which was brought back to life today by the senate temperance and hygiene committee.

Every couple applying for a marriage license would be required to prove they had $1,000 on deposit in a bank or invested in government securities, liabilities and exemptions, under an amendment attached to the bill by the committee.

That would tie them over the first year of their marriage, according to the amendment, Senator Butler, of Frankfort, a farmer, past middle age.

Exemption would be allowed, according to Senator Butler, for a couple who owned a farm or other property equal in value to $1,000. Conversely, if the couple was in debt $100, they would be required to show a deposit of at least $1,100.

"Every girl approaching marriage, if she is ambitious, would be able to save $1,000," Senator Butler said. If not, the couple could at least save their money before getting married.

I believe the idea is all right, and I would like to make the requirement $2,000."

Bishop Beauchamp
Addresses Methodist
Women at Brunswick

Brunswick, Ga., February 9.—(Special)—Many interesting events and several strong addresses featured today's session of the Woman's Missionary society of the South Georgia Methodist conference, which is in session here tonight.

Members and many local people listened to an address by Bishop W. B. Beauchamp.

The feature of this morning's session was the report of Mrs. J. D. McKee on social service. Her entire address was filled with pathos and a touching appeal for help.

The conference enthusiastically passed a resolution authorizing the sending of a petition to the Georgia legislature at its next session, indorsing the building of an institution for the delinquent negro girls of the state. Those who heard the reports and touching stories bearing on social service were impressed with the magnitude of this work.

Mrs. George C. Nunn led in a thanksgiving service for the success of the Belle Bennett memorial campaign, in which the south Georgia conference raised its full quota, $28,029. Mrs. Nunn was enthusiastic in her praise.
